Wilmington election results

President Who?

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Here it is, at press time, the day after the election, and nobody knows who our next United States President is going to be.

Even locally, the election results will not be made certain until later in the week when Town Clerk Kay Scanlon makes them official. Here, though, are the unofficial results of the voting that took place in Wilmington on Tuesday, November 7, a historical day that our nation will not soon forget.

• PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. A nail-biter? A roller-coaster ride? A cliffhanger? Such cliches are made quaint by the indescribable high drama that continues to unfold on the national stage in the race for president. Wilmington, however, had no problem making up its mind: Democratic Vice President Al Gore received 57% of the final vote. Republican George W. Bush acquired 37% of the final tally. Green Party candidate Ralph Nader nabbed 4% of the vote. Other candidates on the ballot comprised of two percent of the final figures.

• UNITED STATES SENATOR. Take a wild guess. Incumbent veteran Democratic Senator Edward M. Kennedy commanded a whopping 66% of the Wilmington vote on his way to winning the state. Carla Howell, with 14%, ran strongly here in town, underscoring the growing popularity of the Libertarian Party in the Commonwealth. Republican Jack E. Robinson received 13% of the final tally.

• UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE. Democratic incumbent John F. Tierney will get to keep his job, thanks in part to Wilmington residents, who handed him 65% of their votes. Republican challenger Paul McCarthy garnered 25% of Wilmington's tally.

• SURE THINGS. Several candidates were the only contenders to appear in the race for their hopeful positions. The following unchallenged candidates all scored 60% or higher in Wilmington: Democrat Mary-Ellen Manning for Fifth District Councillor; Republican Incumbent State Senator Bruce E. Tarr; State Representative James Miceli; Democratic Incumbent Edward J. Sullivan for Clerk of Courts; and Democratic Re-Election candidate Richard P. Howe, Jr. for Register of Deeds.

• REGISTER OF PROBATE. Democratic candidate John R. Buonomo scored 39% of the local vote. Twenty-five percent of Wilmington voters got in Republican Lee Johnson's corner, and 15% took the side of Independent challenger Diane Poulos Harpell.

• QUESTION ONE: Wilmington voters voted 66% to 28% in favor of earlier re-districting for state legislators and governor's councillors. The proposition passed statewide, as well.

• QUESTION TWO: Local voters were in step with the state's sentencing on this one, as well: Sixty-one percent voted in favor of limiting the voting rights of prisoners.

• QUESTION THREE: Should dog racing be banned in Massachusetts? Fifty-five percent of Wilmington residents put a muzzle on the idea, sending proponents of this initiative to the dog house with 42%. Statewide, the "no" vote prevailed, as well.

• QUESTION FOUR: Governor Paul Cellucci scored a major victory with the passing of this vote, which will roll the state income tax back from 5.95% to 5% over the next three years. In part, he has the folks of Wilmington to thank,

FUTURE LEGISLATORS? Town Manager Michael Caira answers a question from one of the kiddos at the Boutwell School just one day before Election Day on Monday, November 6. Caira gave the Kindergarteners a visit, explaining to them the responsibilities of the presidency and the importance of voting. When Caira asked the children if they knew the name of our current president, many of them called out, "You are!" For the record, though, all kids seemed to know that it was both George W. Bush and Al Gore who were seeking to unseat him. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Boutwell ballots

A pint-sized civics lesson

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - If Al Gore ends up losing the election, perhaps it will be the ever-crucial future-dentist vote that ultimately cost him presidential glory.

The little folks at the Boutwell School held a mock-election on the morning of Monday, November 6. When one boy emerged from his voting booth, he spilled the beans and told School Nurse Kerry Garfinkel why he checked off the box next to Republican George W. Bush.

"He told me that he didn't want to vote for Gore because he has a tooth that sticks out," says Garfinkel.

Kids say the darnedest things.

They also vote the darnedest ways. Here are the results from the Boutwell School presidential election. "Compassionate conservative" George W. Bush carried the day with 48% of the popular vote. Al Gore, who "fights for the working families," came in a distant second with 36% of the final tally.

It was a good day for third party candidates, as well. Green Party frontman Ralph Nader grabbed 5% of the nods. The most surprising showing, however, went to Reform Party warrior Patrick Buchanan, who commanded an impressive 11% of the vote.

Considering that Buchanan never mustered above one percent in the national polls, what, pray tell, was his winning strategy at the Boutwell School?

Says Garfinkel, "A lot of the kids said that they voted for Buchanan because, alphabetically, his picture was at the top of the ballot."

Just imagine if we adults had

Nally named chief

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Deputy Chief Bernard Nally has been named the new Chief of the Wilmington Police Department.

The decision to name Nally was made known earlier this week, on Monday, November 6. The announcement of Deputy Nally's new position will be formally made at the Board of Selectmen meeting to take place on Monday, November 13.

Deputy Nally, a 32-year veteran of the Wilmington police force, will replace Chief Bobby N. Stewart, who will retire in January. The two men will work together over a transition period during the next two months.

Aside from confirming that he had indeed been named Chief of Police, Deputy Nally elected to wait until after the formal announcement is made on Monday before he comments about his new promotion.

"You have more than enough election-related stuff to report this week," joked Nally, referring to the white-knuckled ride voters took into the early hours of the morning on Election night.

Lieutenant Robert Spencer has been named to the position of Deputy Chief.

Arthur Smith charges dropped

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The conflict-of-interest charges that were being faced by former Wilmington Water and Sewer Commission Chairman Arthur R. Smith, Jr. have been dropped.

Last week, the Massachusetts State Ethics Commission dismissed the case against Smith that alleged that he violated the state's "conflict of interest" laws on occasions between 1989 and 1992. According to the Ethics Commission, it unanimously voted to drop the matter because it concluded that Smith "does not have sufficient present ability to consult with his lawyer with a reasonable degree of rational understanding." The commission added that Smith also does not appear to have a "rational" and "factual" understanding of the proceedings brought against him.

In 1995, charges were filed against Smith, alleging that he violated the state's conflict laws by using his position on the commission to obtain Water Department contracts for a company named Designer Comfort, which Smith owned in conjunction with his son and daughter. The charges also alleged that Smith used his position on the commission to redirect Water Department electrical work to former Wilmington Building and Wiring Inspector James Russo and Russo's brother-in-law, John Fitzgerald. Russo had inspected Smith's private construction projects.

Allegedly, Designer Comfort Systems obtained contracts that were valued at more than $10,000 in 1990 and 1991. Between 1989 and 1992, Russo and Fitzgerald allegedly obtained contracts that totaled more than $14,000.

Russo had also been charged with violating the conflict laws, but the charges were dropped after he died in 1996.

Smith served on the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners for approximately 15 years. In the late 1970s and early 1980s, he and fellow commissioner George Allan oversaw the installation of a $7 million trunkline sewer system that ran the length of Wilmington, from south to north.

Vets to be honored

By AMY WONG

WILMINGTON - Saturday is Veterans Day and Wilmington will honor its veterans with a celebration on the Town Common. The observances will begin at 11 a.m.

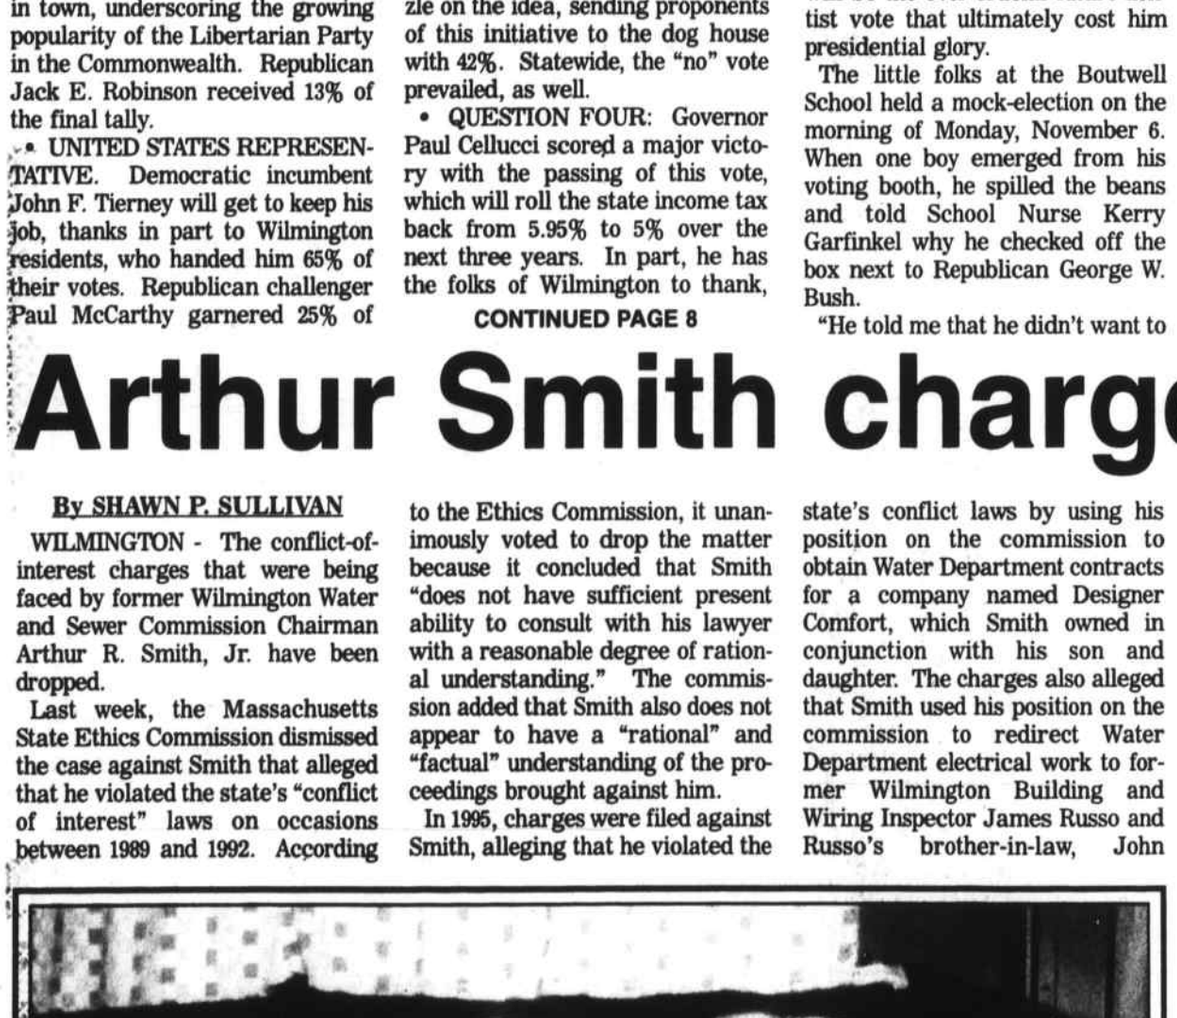

Participants will march over to the site of the Veterans Monument on the Town Common for the service. The flag will be raised and a wreath placed in honor of all veterans, both living and deceased.

The Wilmington High School Band will join in the commemoration with its rendition of the "Star Spangled Banner" and other patriotic numbers.

Several local dignitaries have been invited to speak, including Senator Bruce Tarr; Representatives James Miceli, Charles Murphy and John Tierney; the Wilmington Board of Selectmen; and Town Manager Michael Caira.

This Veterans Day also marks the one-year anniversary of the dedication of the monument, which was erected on the Town Common last fall.

IT USED TO BE THAT PEOPLE TRIED TO SEE HOW MANY PEOPLE COULD FIT INTO A PHONE BOOTH. If the subject is a voting booth, though, the answer is at least three. Question 3 caper

Activists set blimp free

By STAFF REPORTS

WOBURN - If they were as quick as greyhounds, then perhaps they would have been able to flee the scene of the crime sooner.

Instead, a Wilmington man and a Billerica woman were arrested on Monday, November 6 after they allegedly cut the ropes to a blimp urging a "no" vote on Question 3, the referendum on this year's ballot that sought to ban greyhound racing throughout the state. The blimp had been floating at Joe's American Bar & Grille on Mishawum Road in Woburn.

Timothy Baghart, 18, of Wilmington, and Hollie A. Sullivan, 17, of Billerica, were charged with the malicious destruction of property, disorderly conduct, and conspiracy.

Baghart was allegedly driven from the scene by Sullivan after he set the blimp free. Sullivan, who has obtained only a learner's permit, was also charged with operating a vehicle without a driver's license.

Ironically, the suspects were pulled over the parking lot of Petco just after the incident occurred. Two witnesses at Joe's, who work at Wonderland Park in Revere, called the police after they saw Banghart cut the ties to the blimp.

Joe's American Bar & Grille is "affiliated" with Wonderland Park, according to the police reports. The blimp was valued at $1,900.

Apparently, Banghart, a self-proclaimed animal activist, felt that Questions 3's opponents were full of hot air. He admitted to cutting the blimp's ropes.

Banghart and Sullivan were reportedly arraigned in Woburn

ONCE IN TEWKSBURY. Anne Sullivan, affectionately known as The Miracle Worker for the progress she made with blind student Helen Keller, spent a few years of her youth in Tewksbury. Above, artist Mico Kaufman observes his sculpture of Sullivan and Keller that rests at the Town Hall in Tewksbury. (Maureen Lamoureux photo)

Anne Sullivan's place in Tewksbury history

By AMY HELENE

TEWKSBURY - All the events in your life make up a journey traveled by no other. For Anne Sullivan, this journey was not an easy one.

Most of us know Sullivan as the teacher of a blind and deaf child named Helen Keller. Before Sullivan met Keller, she overcame many obstacles in her own life. She traveled a road of many challenges. It was on this same road that Sullivan even passed through the town of Tewksbury at one point.

Sullivan was born in 1886 in Feeding Hills, Massachusetts to Irish immigrant parents. Her mother died of tuberculosis when she was eight. Sullivan's older sister and younger brother were taken in by relatives, while she was left to take care of her father.

Eventually, her family could not take care of her brother and she could no longer take care of her father, according to the American Foundation for the Blind. As a result, she and her brother were brought to the state poorhouse of Tewksbury on February 22, 1876. Sullivan's eyes continued to weaken during this time from the trachoma she contracted at a young age.

After a few years in the poorhouse, Sullivan's brother died due to a tubercular hip. This left Sullivan at a loss. Finally, in 1880, Sullivan was allowed to leave the poorhouse when she asked if she could go to school. She entered the Perkins School for the Blind.

She met many experiences during her schooling. At first, her transition was slow, but her learning progressed and she was given the responsibility to act as a guide for other children. Sullivan spent time with Laura Bridgman, the first deaf-blind individual educated in the United States. It was an experience which led to Sullivan's work with Helen Keller.

In 1887, Sullivan went to Tuscumbia, Alabama to work with Helen Keller. Sullivan's many life experiences, which were not all pleasant, brought her to yet another challenge, which was teaching Keller to communicate. The two were together as teacher and student for almost fifty years until Sullivan's death in 1936.

A sculpture dedicated to Sullivan and Keller stands in Tewksbury by local artist Mico Kaufman.

"The Miracle Worker," a program about the challenges of Helen Keller and Anne Sullivan, will air this Sunday, November 12, at 7 p.m. on ABC's "The Wonderful World of Disney."

Tune in, and you just might learn some more about a well-known historical figure who stopped in Tewksbury on her way to working miracles with Helen Keller.

Trash collection on usual day

TEWKSBURY - There will be trash, recycling and leaf pickup on Friday, November 10. All items must be curbside no later than 7 a.m. Leaves must be in paper leaf bags or barrels. Thank you for your cooperation.

It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

NEW:
THE PERPETUAL TRUST

While Congress and the President dicker over repealing the estate tax, a new trust opportunity does away with the problem altogether. Eleven states so far–and more expected to follow–have repealed the old "rule against perpetuity" that limited the term of a trust to the lifetime of a living person plus 21 years.

The first transfer of assets into the perpetual trust will face ordinary gift and estate tax rates, though these can be minimized or even eliminated. The value of the perpetual trust kicks in for future generations who won't face those taxes.

Each state has specific rules for this kind of trust (the trust does not have to be legal in your own state), so it's wise to plan with knowledgeable tax professionals. Basically, a perpetual trust is irrevocable and cannot be modified. Trustees must be capable of managing the assets and distribution; the trust must determine how successor trusts will be named and money given far in the future.

...From the Editor's Desk

November is National Alzheimer's Month

He looked up at me as he lay weakly in his bed. His eyes, so milky and opaque, gazed up at me as though peering through a glazed coat. His face, so sunken and weary, appealed to me to lean in closer and listen. It almost seemed as though his mind, so defeated and reduced, had one more thought to convey to me.

It was just me and my grandfather at this very moment. My grandmother, my father, and my relatives had left the room, so that I may have a quiet, private chance to say goodbye to the man who taught me how to play Checkers, who always had a candy bar to share, and who asked me to come along whenever he fed the ducks that swam near his summer cottage. As I stood above my grandfather, I knew that I was seeing him for the very last time. I knew that in the hours ahead he would lose his battle against Alzheimer's Disease once and for all.

Somehow, Grampy was able to muster enough strength to lift his head from his pillow. His lips begin to tremble, as though he had something that he wanted to say. His bony hand reached out and faintly took hold of mine. I lowered my head, bringing my face within inches of his own pained expression. I searched his hollow eyes, grasped his hand, and asked him what he wanted to say. It had been years since my grandfather had truly spoken directly to me with words that were not confused and indecipherable, and I was compelled by the possibility of what he might tell me.

He strained a bit, leaned even closer to me, pulled his voice to his lips, and said, "Boo!" For one moment in time he was alive again. I jumped back, startled. He leaned back onto his pillow, his eyes momentarily alive, a toothless smile spread across his face. His labored breathing gave way to gasping chuckles.

Seconds later, he retreated back into his dying state, as though his one last prank on his grandson never happened.

I stared at my grandfather, stunned at first, and then amused. A smile came to my face, and I decided that farewells just do not get any better than that. I kissed my grandfather on the forehead, turned away, and left the room. I promised myself that I would not return. This sad goodbye was one elevated by one last good joke, not an endless stream of tears.

My grandfather experienced a "window of clarity." Family members who have an elderly loved one who suffers from Alzheimer's Disease are familiar with the term. For one moment in time, the afflicted individual is granted an opportunity to escape the oppressive grasp of mental disintegration to experience a quick moment of lucidity. In fact, such "windows of clarity" allow an Alzheimer's Disease patient the chance to make a true connection with another human being.

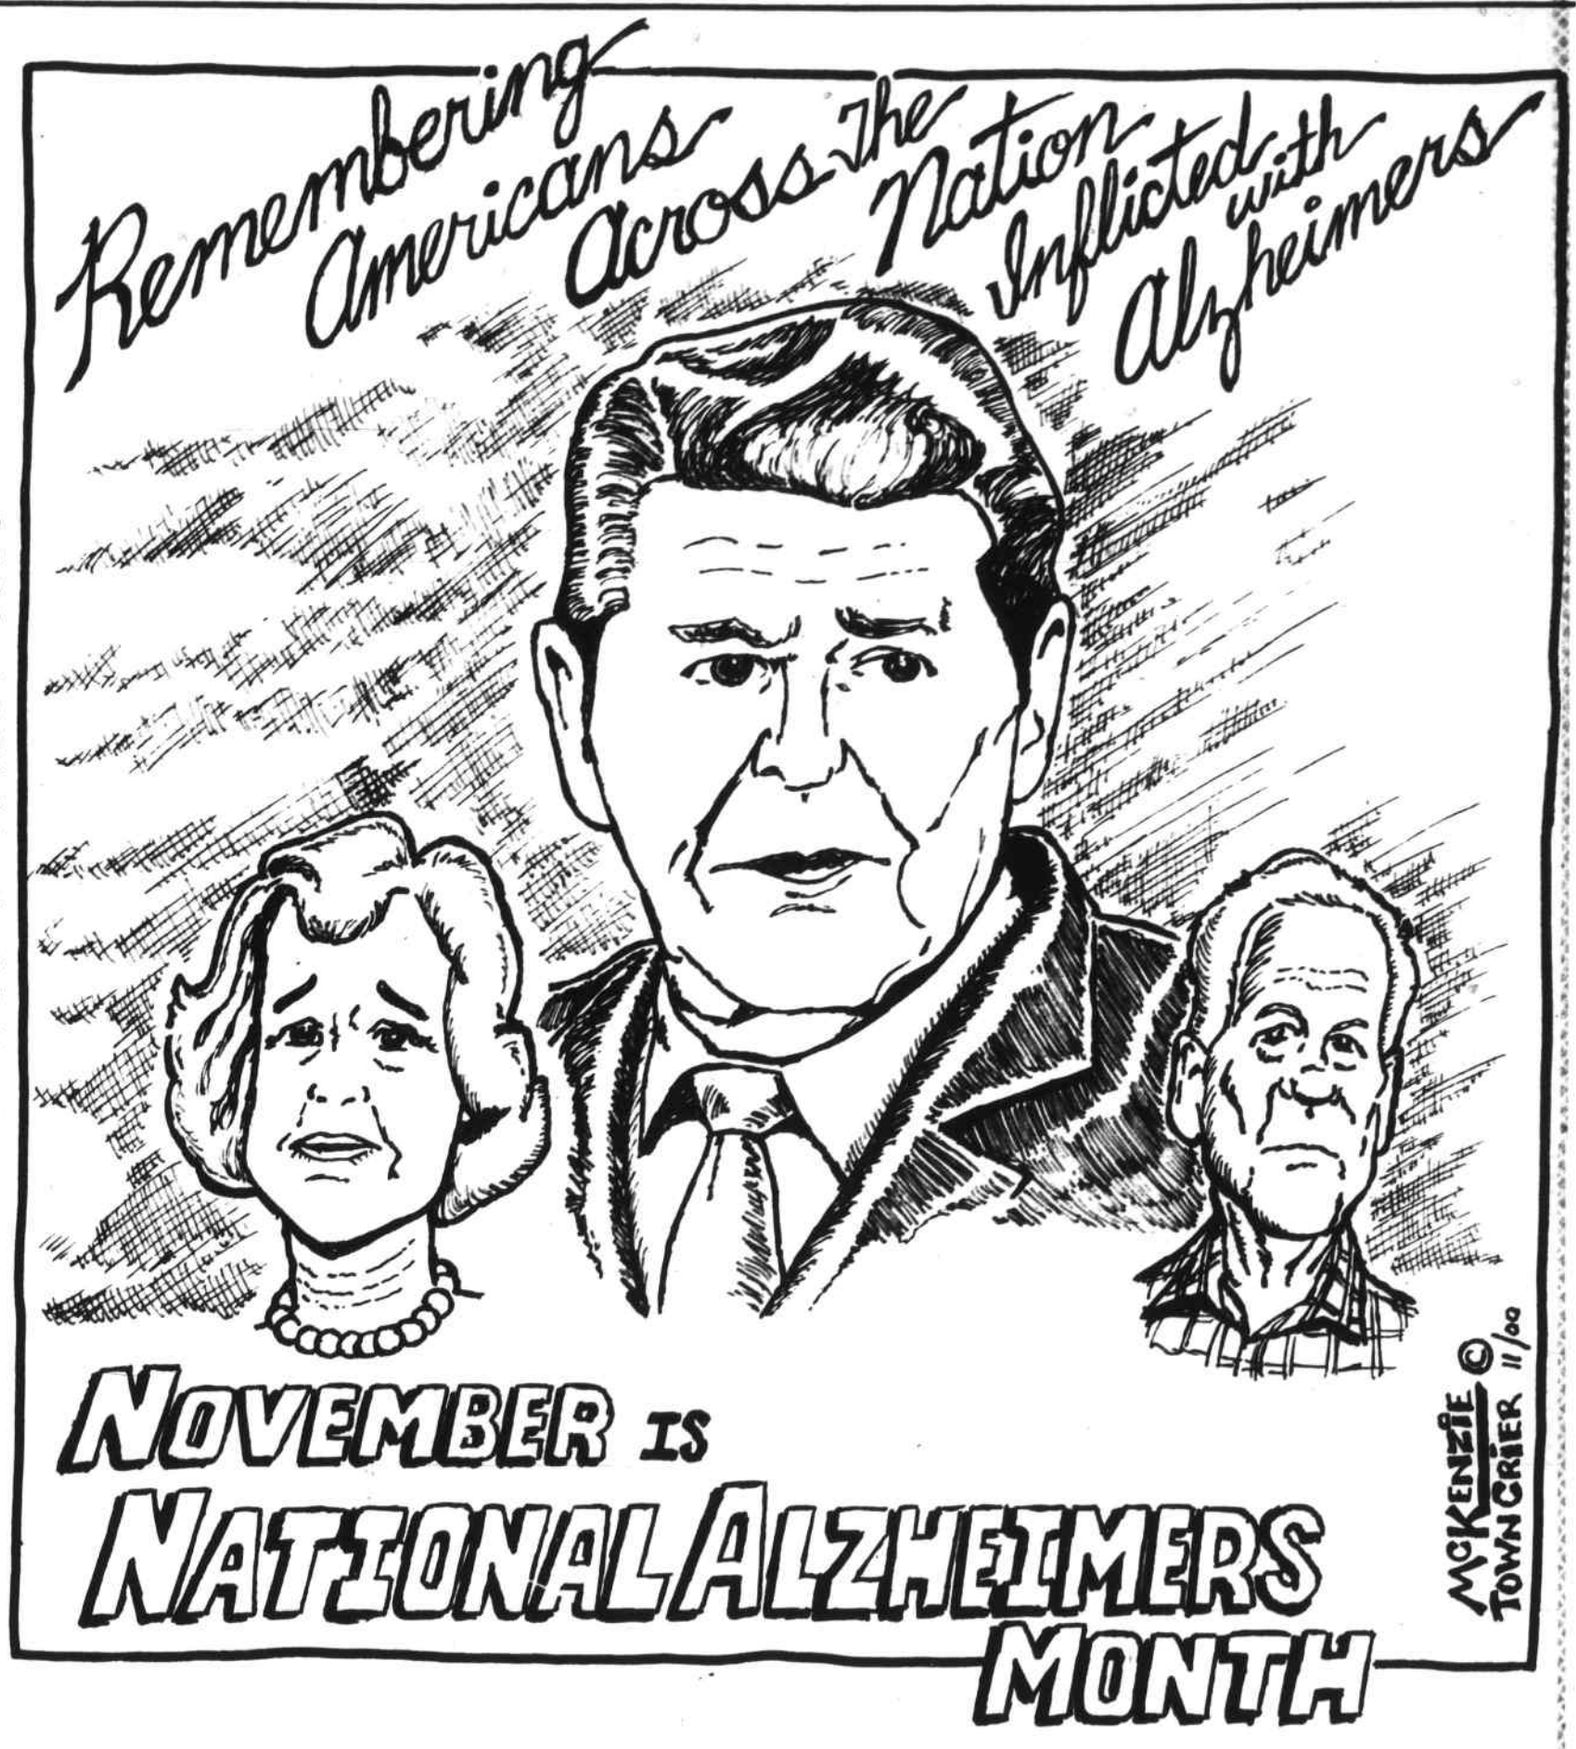

November is National Alzheimer's Disease Month. All month long there are events throughout eastern and central Massachusetts that will enlighten people seeking meaningful ways to deal with loved ones who struggle with the disease. A few of these events would require quite a lengthy drive, but here are two of them that will take place within a reasonable distance:

- On November 14 there will be a presentation called "Listening to the Brain: Treating Behavior Changes in Alzheimer's Disease" at The Colonnade Hotel in Boston. Dr. Jeffrey Cummings, a professor of neurology and psychiatry and behavioral science at UCLA, will deliver the presentation. The event starts at 7 p.m. and concludes ninety minutes later.
- In Woburn on November 28, Dementia Care Specialist Bill Keane will speak about "Caregiving for Boomers." The one-hour event will begin at 7 p.m. at Hearthstone at Choate at 23 Warren Avenue in Woburn. Interested? You can call 781-674-2884, extension 24.

If you have any questions, or if you'd like information about the disease, you can call the Alzheimer's Association in Chicago at 312-335-8700.

According to the Alzheimer's Association, four million Americans suffer from this progressive and degenerative disease of the brain. In fact, it is projected that in fifty years approximately fourteen million Americans will have the disease if a cure is not found.

The story about my grandfather and his moment of clarity is one I treasure. In confronting his death, it helped me find closure and peace. In truth, though, I spent the last years of my grandfather's life being baffled by the disease's horrible toll and resigned to the sad fact that he could no longer recognize me or communicate with me. Looking back on the experience, I now understand that education and awareness about the disease are essential. It is terribly important to understand what is going on in the mind of a loved one with Alzheimer's Disease, for the opening of that window of clarity is never guaranteed.

November 11: Veterans remembered

The Story of Leslie W. Wicks

Dear Editor:

It is quite strange how many stories evolve from odd beginnings, such as this one. In the mid-1980s I returned to New England on a job contract and upon my arrival I heard that Henry Hess, of West Street, was in the hospital. I visited him and learned that he had Lou Gehrig's Disease and wasn't given much hope. Knowing that he was in the United States Navy's PT Boat Division during World War II, I purchased a PT Boat kit for him to assemble and help pass the time. But when I attempted to present it to him at his home, his son informed me that Henry had passed away that morning.

Now the job of assembling the kit fell to me. I put the kit together, except I didn't know what color to paint it. A co-worker, Ben Romano, of Kingston, New Hampshire, loaned me a book that detailed the complete history of the PT Boats during the second World War. The book listed every boat from #1 to #920, with the names of the top officers of each, including an index of those honored with medals and of those killed and/or wounded.

I was flipping through this listing, looking for Henry's name, when Leslie W. Wicks leaped at me from the page. I knew he was from Wilmington and is interred in the Veterans' area of the cemetery. I knew his name is read every memorial Day. I then looked through the pages to find the circumstances of his death, and a story unfolded that shows war in its stupidity. He was on one of two PT Boats, which were deployed accidentally within a "no-go" zone in the Solomon Islands. Two American planes spotted them and started to strafe them. When the boats showed their Stars and Stripes, they thought it was a trick, as many Japanese boats had done the same thing before. So the PT Boats fought back and shot down one of the American planes. The other plane returned to its base and reported the incident, and that was when 14 planes, including eight U.S. Navy Avenger dive bombers, hit those PT Boats and blew them apart. No bodies were ever found. Maybe none of them were never even looked for.

I was playing softball at the Town Park's Aprile Field in those days. I told this story to Ted Wicks, a brother of Leslie. He said that his family never knew the circumstances of his death, just that he was reported as "missing in action." In 1945, Leslie was officially declared dead. His sister, Irene Wicks Saunders, a bridesmaid at my wedding, asked me to copy that story for her. I did, so that she at least knew how her brother died.

There may be a lot of "guts and glory" in warfare, but there is a lot of sadness too. So on this Veterans Day, let us pay homage not just to the heroes, but to the thousands who gave their lives in total obscurity.

Incidentally, that PT Boat in Henry Hess' memory is still on display at the VFW Nee-Ellsworth Post 2458 in Wilmington.

Happy Birthday, Marines!

Dear Editor:

November 10 is the two hundred and twenty-fifth (225) Anniversary of the birth of the United States Marine Corps (1775). It has been customary for many years for the U.S.M.C. Commandant to issue a "Birthday Message" to all Marines throughout the world. Would you please publish this year's attached message for all of the Marines in the area of your newspaper's circulation. Thank you very much.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph J. Hartka

November 10, 2000

A message from the commandant of the Marine Corps.

Today, around the world, in gatherings large and small, Marines will assemble, as they have for 225 years, to honor both our history and the memory of those who have preceded us. It is fitting that we do so, for it is our profound respect for our traditions and reverence of our heritage that distinguishes us as a Corps of Marines. This year is especially meaningful. Fifty years ago, the free nations of the world united to stem aggression in Korea; 25 years ago, the long war in Vietnam drew to a close; and a short decade ago, America and her allies liberated Kuwait. The thread linking these disparate conflicts is the Corps itself, and our performance on these distant battlefields added new definition to our character while cementing our privileged place in the hearts of our countrymen.

Just as the valor of Marines on the battle fields of Korea, Vietnam, and Kuwait contributed uniquely to our legacy, so, too, do our actions today. We continue to write our history, whether conducting critical operations in the international spotlight or diligently attending to the equally important, but unheralded work of taking care of Marines and their families. We are, in fact, stewards of past, present and future. We, therefore, must remain mindful that our actions today - guided by the lessons of yesterday - will determine the fate of the Corps tomorrow.

As the Corps - a family in the truest sense of the word - pauses to celebrate our 225 birthday, it is proper that we take great pride in who we are and the work we do. We are United States Marines and for two and a quarter centuries we have defined the standards of courage, spirit, and military prowess.

On this occasion, we should also remember that a grateful nation cherishes our services and joins us in celebration.

The spirit of the Marines of Korea, Vietnam, and Kuwait still animates those who wear the eagle, globe and anchor today. Their voices and those of all our predecessors join in a familiar chorus and exhort us to uphold our standards and honor our legacy. This we will do, for we have learned well the lessons of our past and know that there is no substitute for vigilance, strength, and resolve. Our nation and the Marines of tomorrow can depend on that commitment.

Happy Birthday, Marines!

Power of Attorney and Health Care Proxy explained

WILMINGTON - Most of us find it important to keep a certain amount of control over our lives. One way that we can keep some control over our persons and our property is by implementing an estate plan. An estate plan can ensure that our wishes regarding our property and our person will be carried out if we become incompetent and even after our death. Everyone whether rich or poor should have some type of estate plan that should contain a Power of Attorney (POA) and a Health Care Proxy.

Power of Attorney

A of Power of Attorney allows you to designate a person or persons you trust to make financial decisions on your behalf. The person(s) that you designate to make financial decisions on your behalf is called an Attorney-in-Fact. When you execute a power of attorney, title to the property does not change, but the agent that you appoint under a power of attorney may exercise control over your property. Selling real estate, paying bills and withdrawing money from your bank account are a few examples of how an Attorney-in-Fact can exercise control over your property.

For a power of attorney to be valid it needs to be in writing and requires the notarized signature of the principal.

In a Power of Attorney document, you, the principal, may grant authority to one or more persons to act individually or jointly on your behalf. If you choose to nominate only one Attorney-in-Fact, it is necessary to nominate a successor agent if your original agent can no longer serve in that capacity, otherwise the power may fall.

Power of Attorney can either be immediate or "springing." Immediate powers of attorney become effective upon execution. Springing powers, on the other hand, only become effective upon disability or incapacity.

POA terminates upon death. It can be revoked at any time. It is your responsibility to give notice of your desire to terminate or revoke the power to the person you designated as your power of attorney in fact. If an attorney in fact is unaware that you revoked his power, or authority to act on your behalf because you failed to inform him of your decision, you will be bound by his actions unless the decision he made on your behalf was invalid or unenforceable.

Health Care Proxy

Health Care proxy is a legal document that allows every competent individual over 18 years of age to nominate an agent to make medical decisions on his behalf, but only once the principal has been deemed incompetent by his physician or is incapable of communicating his medical decisions.

A valid health care proxy must be in writing. While Massachusetts does not require notarization of the principal or witnesses' signatures; other states where clients reside for part of the year may have these requirements. Therefore, it is recommended that the principal and witnesses signatures be notarized. It is important to remember that neither the agent nor the alternate agent can serve as a witness and your doctor and other hospital staff cannot serve as agents.

A health care proxy can be revoked or terminated at any time either verbally or in writing.

It is important to give a copy of your health care proxy to your primary physician, and to enter a copy into your medical records at a hospital likely to provide treatment to you in an emergency.

But most importantly, it is imperative that you communicate your medical treatment preferences to your potential agent and successor agent and feel confident that they will carry out your wishes.

If anyone is interested or in need of having a POA or Health Care Proxy implement, Attorney Nancy Hogan will give free assistance to elders who are interested in preparing these papers. The first session will be November 30 at 1 p.m. for preparing Health Care Proxy. There will be a session December 14 at 1 p.m. for preparing Power of Attorney. Wilmington election results for 64% of voters in town checked the "yes" box.

• QUESTION FIVE: Did you see the campaign ad in which a doctor and his patient are bombarded by miles of red tape raining down on them? Apparently, the ad did the trick, for Wilmington voters rejected this health care initiative with 55% of the final vote. Those who answered "yes" for Question Five comprised 40% of the final tally. The initiative was rejected state-wide, as well.

• QUESTION SIX: Wilmington voters passed on the opportunity to be granted income tax deductions for the highway and bridge tolls and motor vehicle excise taxes that they pay on a yearly basis. Opponents to this question put the brakes on the initiative with 50% of the local vote. Proponents drove into a brick wall to the tune of 45%.

• QUESTION SEVEN: Wilmington voters were in a charitable mood, granting a favorable vote of 75% to the initiative that sought to provide income tax deductions for any Massachusetts taxpayers who make donations throughout the year. State-wide, this question was a success, as well.

• QUESTION EIGHT: That sigh of relief that you are hearing is coming from the state's eleven District Attorneys and every police officer in the land. If passed, Question 8 would have shifted seized drug money and assets from authorities to drug treatment programs. While the initiative sounded good to 40% of those who voted in Wilmington, 54% of local voters decided against a measure that ultimately would have made the jobs of police officers more difficult to do. The rest of the state agreed.

Passions ran high this election season, for a whopping 71% of registered Wilmington voters showed up at the polls.

voted by the same criteria on November 7. If anything, we'd certainly have a president by now, wouldn't we?

It was a big day all around for the Boutwell Kindergarteners. In the afternoon, Town Manager Michael Caira stopped by and engaged them in a discussion about the value of voting.

"A lot of countries don't have the opportunity to vote," explained Caira. "If you're young or old or rich or poor or whatever your job may be, you all have a chance to vote."

Caira fielded a few questions from the crowd of kids seated on the floor of the school's cafeteria.

A boy named Matthew asked Caira if the president "can be the boss of the whole world."

"Only the country," Caira answered. "The president has a lot of influence, though, and he can help the world."

Matthew mentioned that if he were the president, then he would let the firemen do whatever they want. It was not known at press time whether or not Matthew's father is a firefighter, or, at the very least, whether or not Matthew is a member of the firefighters' union.

Another boy in the audience, named Andrew, told Caira that he wanted to be president so that he could help people.

A girl, named Rebecca, suggested that it is the job of the president to make sure that our food is safe.

Caira concluded his presentation by asking the children to remember two things: Tell everyone to vote and study really hard. Caira also invited all of the children to stop by his office for a tour of the Town Hall, if ever they find themselves in the neighborhood.

A mock election was also held at the North Intermediate School on Thursday, November 2. In that presidential poll, 318 students cast their vote, with 29 adults joining in the fun, as well. The final tally at the Salem Street school was: Vice President Gore with a whopping 72% of the vote; Governor Bush with a far-off 27% of the nods; and Ralph Nader with barely one percent of the vote.

A Texan governor today, a Wilmington Kindergartener tomorrow? Caira made sure that the kids before him understood the magic and the beauty and the promise of the American political process.

"Someday, we might be voting for somebody here today," said Caira. "We might be voting for you."

Veterans to be honored

Designing and building the monument was a project that took two years of planning. The process was overseen by a committee with members from the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW); the Marine Corp League; the American Legion Post 136; the Historical Committee; and a few interested members of the community.

"We wanted to honor all veterans, not just the combat troops, but the cooks, the truck drivers, the nurses and the doctors," says Eddie Williams, the Quartermaster at the VFW. Williams also served as secretary for the Veterans Monument Committee.

"They might not have served on the front line and dodged bullets, but they were part of the team, whether they served overseas or at home," Williams adds.

Joseph Stein, president of the committee, travelled all over the state, taking hundreds of photos of monuments for the committee to review and decide upon a design idea.

The committee received complete support for the monument from Town Manager Caira and the Board of Selectmen, who provided funding for the project. Town officials even went a step further, improving the surrounding grounds with a new walkway, benches and lighting.

The hard part, though, came after the monument's design was decided and the funding was in place. What should the monument say? The committee debated on the words to be engraved and whether to use names or not. Finally, the committee decided on some poignant words: "In recognition of those who served. In remembrance of those who did not return."

"We purposely avoided using the word 'memorial' because we wanted the monument to honor all veterans, both living and dead," explains Williams.

"We also only gave the names of the wars, from the Revolutionary War up to present-day conflicts," says Williams. "We did not include the dates, though, because the dates of a war sometimes change as time passes."

The monument has become a centerpiece at the common, and all veterans' ceremonies are now held there. On Memorial Day, the veteran representatives used to go to each of the sixteen "squares" in town that have been named after a deceased veteran. Brief ceremonies would be held at each location, making for quite a busy day. However, beginning last year, one ceremony for all of the squares have been held at the new monument.

"It's nice for the families of each of these veterans being honored to all come together and provide support for each other," says Williams of the new tradition.

Activists set blimp free

District Court later the same day. Both entered a plea of "not guilty." Their cases have been continued to a later date.

The alleged actions of Banghart and Sullivan were not the first ones taken against the vote-no blimp. Just last week, the blimp was dealt a Hindenburg-like fate when it was punctured. It was repaired shortly afterwards, and no arrests were made.

Incidentally, though, it was the blimp that had the final word: On November 7, state residents voted "no" on Question 3.

Conservation Commission

Olin, Seneca Lane, and Maple Meadow Landfill

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - At its November 1 meeting, the Conservation Commission's agenda was once again full with both new and continued projects.

OLIN Corporation update. All work associated with the drum removal effort is complete. Both removal areas have been backfilled with clean fill material. Sediment removal from the west portion of the South Ditch and installation of box culverts in the new wier location necessitated de-watering. The pump was inadvertently left on overnight and pumped contaminated groundwater into the erosion control barriers at the excavated areas, which did contain most of the water. The pumps were shut off and the water and sediment from this area was properly removed and the situation was promptly corrected. MADEP and USEPA were notified and an Immediate Response Action for was filed.

Slurry wall construction is underway, as well as construction of a detention pond retaining wall. The soil treatment area to the rear of the property is functional and all stockpiled soils are contained within the containment structure. Additional hay bales and silt fencing will be installed at the southern end of the containment structure and along the edge of the slurry wall.

15 SENECA LANE. The project is for a single-family dwelling and involves construction and grading within 100 feet of a bordering vegetated wetland. It is not located in an estimated habitat for endangered species. The lot is of hammerhead configuration. Driveway runoff was the only issue. It was resolved and the Notice of Intent public hearing was closed.

21 SENECA LANE. Again, the project is for a single-family dwelling on a hammerhead lot and involves construction and grading within 100 feet of a bordering vegetated wetland. It is not located in an estimated habitat for endangered species. There are more issues with the construction than on 15 Seneca Lane. The driveway is situated with a zero-wetland setback, and runoff will be a problem. The commission requests a 25-foot setback for construction. Sewer excavation is also an issue.

"The issue is whether or not [the project] is within the riverfront area," said Assistant Director of Planning and Conservation John Keeley. "I need to look at the site."

The commission voted to continue the hearing to their next meeting.

MAPLE MEADOW LANDFILL. The project will not be within an endangered species area according to National Heritage. After a site walk on October 26th, some additional areas of stream channel were identified. Based on that site walk, the size of the impact on the disturbed Riverfront Area has been changed. Total disturbed riverfront area is 320,373 square feet. 312,298 square feet is within the buffer zone and 38,368 cubic feet of temporary alteration will be in the bordering land subject to flooding.

The public hearing was closed.

15 BLANCHARD ROAD. This project was originally filed as a Request for Determination, but the issues surrounding the project necessitated a Notice of Intent filing. The project is the construction of a 24' x 24' garage. Work will be within the riverfront area and very close to the bordering vegetated wetlands. Issues surrounding drainage and grading need to be resolved. Mr. Keeley needs to do a site walk to make a determination of the wetland zone. The hearing was continued for the next meeting.

2 and 5 FOLEY FARM ROAD. Both projects for the construction of single-family dwellings received septic approval from the Board of Health and the commission closed the public hearing.

COOMBS FURNITURE. The site visit proved fruitful and Mr. Keeley reviewed the wetland and riverfront delineation. The commission closed the public hearing and approved the wetland and riverfront determination.

37 BOUTWELL. The filing for a Request for Determination received a positive vote from the commission. The project is for new water service to the existing home. Although the water line is within the existing driveway, the driveway crosses wetlands.

"They really need to file a Notice of Intent," said Mr. Keeley. "We need to have engineering plans for this project."

ENDINGS AND BEGINNINGS

The renowned expert on death and dying, Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, categorizes the coping mechanism of death as a series of five distinct stages: denial and isolation, anger, bargaining, depression, and, finally, acceptance. Although each grieving individual may pass through these stages in different sequences and spend different amounts of time in each stage, most grieving individuals react similarly. There is, initially, a sense of shock and denial, followed by a longer stage of psychic pain. After the initial shock has worn off and emotions have diminished, the bereaved enters an adjustment phase. Usually, with the absence of the deceased comes a change of routine. While it may seem that death is an ending, it is a beginning for the survivor.

The fall and winter are upon us, and it can be very difficult for survivors to cope during the holidays. Some comfort may be derived from remembering the deceased through stories and anecdotes. New rituals are born from these tales, and the younger generation finds their identity in their family members who have passed on. What it means to be an American

by STEPHANIE PIANTEDOSI

Life is a funny thing. You can create it, love it, hate it, and destroy it. It gives no protest. But every life is precious, worth living, enjoying. Every life has a certain purpose when brought to this world. Maybe, in some cases, it was to fight and die in a war, but to fight boldly. On the other hand, it could be that you were born a prodigy, but in the wrong country. Could you make it to the United States? Have rights? Have Freedom? Or would you stay in your country and shed light on your fellow citizens? If you had the choice, which would you make??

My grandfather, Rudy Russo, decided one day he'd like to fight for the United States. Twenty years old, living in Massachusetts, he saw the pride in fighting during World War II. He and three brothers enlisted. Their parents were sad to see them leave. Sent to Camp Croft, South Carolina for training, he emerged with the ability to use a machine gun, mortar, and a rifle.

He was stationed in the Aleutian Islands, Alaska in the "Thousand Mile War," indicating the length of the islands. From there, he traveled to Burma, India and China where he helped out wherever he was needed.

Next stop, Australia. The only reason for stopping there was to get home safely. He traveled to California and then proceeded to Massachusetts. Elated to be home, he started up the driveway. His mother met him there and for the first time in a long while, he cried with joy of seeing her. It was good to be home.

Many people might ask if he thought World War II should have occurred. But it's not about that at all. The Germans and their allies were murdering millions of innocent people, and they needed to be stopped. Eventually, when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, the war became worldwide, and so much more personal. We won.

Suffering stopped, for the most part. It still goes on today in some places. But if World War III were to take place, could you even begin to think of the casualties? We've lived our lives full of serenity and comfort, bickering if we don't get our way. What would befall our dear little country in this day and age if World War III were a real possibility?

The thought is terrifying.

Earth would be a disastrous wasteland where little could or would survive. Make yourself think of that next time you become irritable. Imagine the horror of seeing an enraged lunatic (think somewhere in the vicinity of Hitler) trying to kill any and everything.

Think twice the next time you whine about an inconvenience. Perhaps it's best we get rid of our little "necessities" and face up to the fact that we are totally reliant on everyone but ourselves and we can't get enough of anything. Scary, isn't it? Fear is out there, every day, gnawing at our stomachs like an evil virus. But when it comes down to it, you might as well just fear yourselves, for you hold the power to unleash a whirlwind of emotions.

Good, bad, it's your choice. Let's hope you make the right one.

Rudy Russo, grandfather of 14-year-old essayist Stephanie Piantedosi, is a long-time resident of Wilmington

Golfers bring home state title

'Cats finish 13 strokes ahead of CAL foes

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

The celebration wasn't big. There even wasn't a victory dance. That's because the Wilmington High golf team used up all of its energy on the course against its opponents.

Last Thursday afternoon, the Wildcats were crowned the Division 3 State Champions, beating Cape Ann League foe North Reading, the runner-up of the ten team tournament, by a whopping 13 strokes which was held at the Far Corner Golf Course in West Boxford on a gorgeous sunny afternoon.

This is the first state championship for the Wildcats. Last year the team qualified for the state final and finished sixth. Last Thursday, they ended their perfect season with an undefeated season (16-0-1), a league championship and a state championship. Three goals the team had wanted to achieve since watching Lynnfield win last year's state title.

"The kids showed up this year wanting to go undefeated, wanting to win the league and wanting to win the state championship," said coach Al Fessenden. "Today you could see they had the confidence to get the job done.

"They showed up and you could see it in their faces, and the way they walked. They just had that determination of winning it all."

Wilmington knew it had a shot at the state title before it happened because the team has been so consistent all season long. Senior Brian Velardo, the team's number two golfer, shot an incredible 75, three shots over the very long and tricky course. Velardo was two under par with four holes left but struggled in the more trickier holes.

Senior Jay Youngclaus and junior Kyle Burns pulled out huge surprises as they both shot a 79. Aaron Ungvarsky, the team's number one golfer, put a strong effort in with an 82 to round out the top four of the six golfers with an 315 score. No other team had multiple golfers under 80, and Wilmington had four golfers with an 82 or lower.

David Velardo and Mike Montalto also participated and shot an 89 and 103, respectively, but their scores weren't counted in the team scores (top four).

Jordan Ungvarsky, who had a very good season as a sophomore, wasn't able to participate in the tournament.

"This didn't happen because the kids had great performance today," said Fessenden. "In the off-season each and every one of them went out a lot to improve on their game.

"They didn't keep their clubs in the closet, they took them out a lot. They knew they had work to do and that off season work paid off today."

It took a few minutes after the scores were posted for Fessenden to realize that his team not only won its first state championship in school history, but they did it in style.

"Coming in we figured team scores of 320-325 could win it," he said. "But to shoot a 315... wow, that's some incredible scores."

It is considering the course. Far Corners is 18 treacherous holes with many dog-lefts, many steep hills, and many long and narrow greens. The course is 6,189 yards long. The second, fourth and 14th holes go from right to left, all very tight holes.

The third hole gets tricky, a par 4,310-yarder which uses some thinking: either crank one over the trees to the left, or bang it straight out and use an iron to get on the greens. The sixth and eleventh holes are both long blasts with a slope to the right, while the seventh hole is an adventure getting over water and sand bunkers.

But the fourth hole is the most difficult one. It's a par 4, 460-yarder - one bad shot especially on that hole and it's very tough to climb back.

"When I hit [the ball off the tee on the fourth hole] it hooked left and went out of bounds," said Velardo. "I was able to rebound and I shot a five - I putted pretty well which saved me."

Said Burns, "I was behind a tree on that one, and I was able to chip it on to the green but I missed the first putt but got the second. That was a tough hole."

With those solid shots and recoveries, Wilmington has now made history in the school and for Fessenden everything now "is okape".

Foursome just dynamic

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Last year as a junior, Brian Velardo did his part helping the Wilmington High golf team qualify for its first ever state final and bringing home a sixth place finish. This fall was different. He was starting his senior year and he wanted to go out on top.

Last Thursday afternoon, he certainly did that. He started his morning off right with several nice drives and shots, and cruised in from there shooting a very impressive 72, three over par to lead the Wildcats to its first ever Division 3 State Championship.

This has been a pretty amazing season for Velardo - from an emotional stand point he golfed everyday with one of his two younger brothers, David, a sophomore. From an individual stand-point, he had a very good season himself, and his performance during the season and last Thursday caps his career off. He mightily helped his team go undefeated, win a league title and win a state title, while having the second lowest score of over 70 golfers on the day.

"Overall I played excellent, I'm pretty happy," he said when asked about his performance.

Velardo said he was two under par with four holes to go, "and that's when everything fell apart," he said. Truthfully, that's where the harder holes came for him the shot gun start. He saved himself with several nice shots after going out of bounds in the horrific fourth hole, and came back strong with bogies in his last two holes.

Velardo followed Aaron Ungvarsky all season. Ungvarsky is just a junior and normally he has the bigger days. On Thursday, Ungvarsky had a very good day for any other high school golfer but for him he said if he had putted the way he can, his score would have been more like Velardo's. But for this 18-holes of golf, one score doesn't mean as much to him - it's what the score did for the team.

"The whole team played well," he said. "We all knew we could do it."

Ungvarsky had played on this course before and said that and the nice weather really helped him.

"It would've been a better [performance] if I didn't have to putt," he said. "I struck the ball as good today than I ever have. My drives and irons were solid shots. I missed the greens just twice. My putter wasn't my friend today."

Just like in any other sport -- especially cross country, track and basketball to name a few -- a team's success rides very heavily on its role players. Not the players who grab the headlines everytime out, but the players who go out and do their jobs consistently day in and day out and who come up with a big performance once or twice during the season. Well that came last Thursday when senior Jay Youngclaus and junior Kyle Burns, both shot an 79 giving the team four scores from 75-82, which no other team could do.

Youngclaus finished first of the bunch and knew that if his teammates did what they were capable of that the team would be champions. As for him, he certainly did his part.

"Yeah I had a pretty good day," he said. "Some holes were pretty tough but overall it was a good day [for me]."

Youngclaus said that the third hole helped him. It was a 320-yarder and he pared it because of a great shot from his 5-iron. He said the seventh hole also was big for him, as he ball hit the greens and bounced onto the hazards, but he was able to recover. He wrapped up his last three holes with two pars and a birdy.

"This is a really nice course, it's wide open," he said, "but it has a lot of tough holes."

Burns came into the season as the team's seventh golfer and slowly got himself into the starting line-up as the season went along. He showed vast improvement in his play and certainly came to play on Thursday. On his first 9 holes he shot an 41, but his last 9 saved him as he impressively finished with an 38, which was under par.

He said the seventh and eighth holes were a struggle. The seventh featured water and during this hole one of his shots got caught in a wedge - he was able to get out of it, and he birdied the next three holes which got him back in the groove.

"I wanted to do something to help the team," he said. "I was confident that I was playing well, I was just hoping my score would be low enough to help us."

Boys Soccer team eliminated

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Record wise the Wilmington High boys' soccer team went from being placed on the map at the end of the 1997 and 1998 seasons, to not being known at all after last year's dismal season.

But after Monday afternoon's 2-0 second round Division 3 North loss to the third seeded Marblehead, Wilmington certainly gained enough respect to put their soccer program back on the map.

"Marblehead presented just what I thought they would present," said interim coach Steve Scanlon, who saw his team finish up 12-8 on the season after beating Lowell Catholic 3-0 in the first round of the tourney. "They were a very polished, skilled team. But in no way were we outclassed."

Marblehead came in with an 14-1-1 record and had the team and the players to back that record up. Wilmington has never been known to have a talented, skilled line-up that would scare off teams. Rather, they have always been known for their grittiness, their determination, all-out physical game which throws off opponents. Monday afternoon wasn't any different.

With many whistles blown for illegal contact, not to mention a penalty kick and an indirect kick which should have been a penalty kick, both teams played relentless with the ball changed fields very quickly in one very fast entertaining game.

Marblehead did carry the play for the majority of the game. But suddenly out of no where Wilmington would move the ball so effectively they would put a very potent scare into Marblehead. Minutes into the second half, Wilmington's top scorer junior Adam Jensen -- with 14 goals to date -- was awarded a penalty shot for being knocked down within the box. His shot just sailed wide right.

"Obviously that penalty kick could have changed the perplexion of the game around but all good goal scorers miss those," said Scanlon. "That kid has done more good for us than he could ever do bad.

"[Missing a penalty shot] is part of the game - it takes a lot of guts to take them."

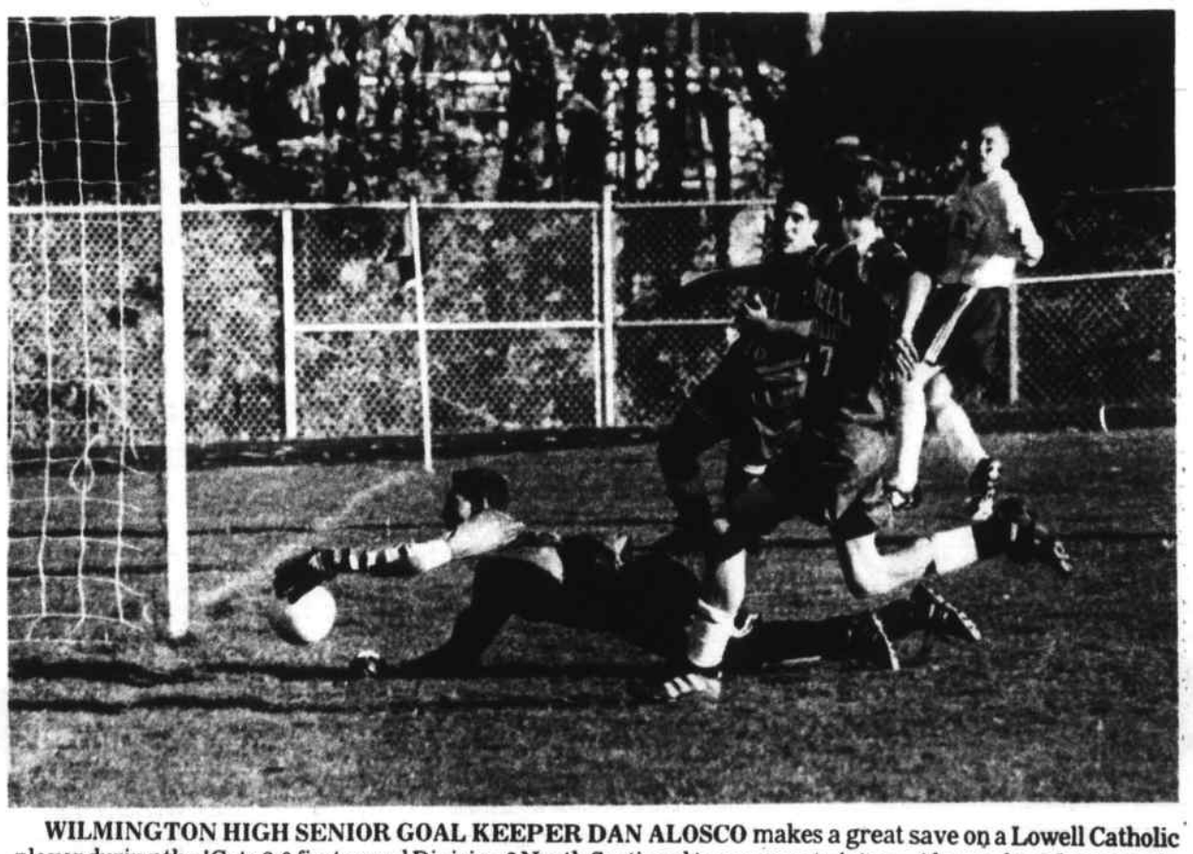

With ten minutes left in the game, Jensen had another chance to score, but this time he was absolutely robbed. Rob Schell -- who came off the bench and played his best game ever supplying a lot of hustle and all-around good heads up play -- gave Jensen a pass from the top right corner. Jensen had to come back for the ball in the middle of the field, and quickly turned and booted a cannon shot which was labeled to go in the low bottom corner. But the Marblehead keeper Matt Orne, made a sensational diving stop.

"We had our chances and they had their chances," said Scanlon. "The restarts seemed to have hurt us. And that last goal we were going for broke."

Wilmington was able to leave the field with the 2-0 loss thanks to senior keeper Dan Alosco. He certainly saved his best game for last making several outstanding stops, especially on top gun Peter Chage. Although Chage was able to put home the eventual game winning goal on a cross pass off an in-direct kick right outside the box halfway through the first half, the speedy talented forward was denied the rest of the way.

Alosco saves best for last

During pre-season, interim boys' soccer coach Steve Scanlon said that senior goalkeeper Dan Alosco had to have a big season if the Wildcats wanted to make some noise.

Wilmington started off 0-3 and 3-6 as it took some games for the rustiness to get out of Alosco, and many of the players. But by the end of it all, Scanlon's prediction was right.

Alosco did have a very good season, and that with a very good defense in front of him, is one big

WHS Hall of Fame

Six players, team, get inducted on Saturday

Lombard continues to entertain off the court

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Mike Lombard stood tall at the podium as a new member of the Wilmington High School Athletic Hall of Game. He talked about his accomplishments and he certainly made the crowd laugh, a lot actually. He was doing what he did best on the basketball court - entertaining people.

"People have always asked me 'when did you become interested in playing basketball?'" he said during his acceptance speech at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Saturday night. "Well, when I was in first grade and all of the other kids came up to my belly button, I thought wow basketball.

"Or when I was in third grade and all of the teachers came up my belly button."

Upon Lombard making the packed hall laugh, he was introduced by another inductee Jim Tildsley, who was the varsity boy's coach when Lombard was in middle school but gave it up because of his new born children.

"Mike is the best basketball player ever to come out of Wilmington High School," said Tildsley, while Town Moderator Jim Stewart echoed the same words after Tildsley and Lombard were finished.

Lombard's accomplishments are incredible. The basketball team went from an one win season during his freshman season (which he played the latter half of) to a Merrimack Valley Conference Championship as a junior. He was the MVC Most Valuable Player, was a three time all-conference selection, a two-time Lowell Sun Player of the Year, and was the Most Valuable Player of the MVC All-Star game as a sophomore.

In addition, he was selected for both the Boston Herald and Boston Globe All-Scholastic teams his senior year. He left Wilmington High with over 1,300 career points. He took that to Dartmouth College where he played for the varsity team all four years, including being the team's captain and Most Valuable Player as a senior. He also won several tournament MVP awards during his collegiate career.

Above all he was a student-athlete. He participated in cross country and baseball until devoting all of his time into basketball after his sophomore season. And he also graduated as a National Honor Society Member, and was a member of the senior class Top Ten.

"What made Mike so good was he was a student-athlete. His brains got him into Dartmouth College - and to go on to Dartmouth and do what he did in the class room and on the basketball court is very hard. People don't realize how hard that is. Mike was truly a student-athlete."

Growing up as the neighborhood's giant, Lombard was the youngest of seven children - with six older sisters. He joked about some of the pranks he pulled on his sisters growing up, and he also eluded to the many memories he has with his lifetime friends Tony and Rob DeSantis and their entire family.

"We'd play for hour and hours," said Lombard, "even though Tony isn't here tonight, his friendship will always be."

Lombard was asked after the ceremonies about his proudest moment and he said, "During my junior year when we beat Tewksbury - Rob at half court, we hugged each other and looked at the scoreboard and then at the people in the stands. We realized that we [won the league championship]."

Lombard also spoke truly and sincere of his parents and his coaches. He said that "any good in me, I owe to my mother" who passed away four years ago.

He also talked great lengths about his coaches in particular Dave Orndorff and the late Larry McGrath, and he also talked about his father. He said his father would tell him to stop mumbling, his mother would tell him to stand up straight, while his two coaches would share much more than basketball strategies with him.

Lombard who has started a coaching career helping out at Chelmsford High said, "As long as I coach (looking directly at Orndorff) you'll be coaching through me."

Up until a few weeks ago, Lombard was the only basketball player to get a full scholarship to continue their playing career in college. Current senior Eric Swiezynski recently signed with St. Michael's College on a full scholarship, and it was the interest of Swiezynski that Lombard found out that he was to be enshrined as a Wilmington High Hall of Fame member.

"I was at Dartmouth and I called the athletic director's office to see if I could get Eric's phone number to see if he would be interested in going to Dartmouth," said Lombard. "And I once I told [Susanne Hardimon, the secretary] who I was, she told me that she was having a hard time getting a hold of me to tell me [about my induction] - so that was funny."

Well that wasn't as funny as Mike telling hundreds of people how much fun he had standing tall as a kid growing up sharing a bathroom with six older sisters.

Tildsley a unique breed of men

By VALERIE CWIEKOWSKI
Sports Correspondent

With his induction into the Wilmington High School Athletic Hall of Fame on Saturday evening, Jim Tildsley enriched his place in WHS history. Tildsley, who played baseball, basketball, and football for the Wilmington Wildcats, earned a total of 9 varsity letters. He was also the recipient of a Wilmigton Boosters Athletic Scholarship.

During his induction speech, Tildsley reflected on his career at WHS. One of Tildsley's fondest memories involves a coaching mentor, WHS Hall of Fame coach Joe Gilligan.

"I can remember," he said, "how Joe came to me and asked if I would go to the baseball game and be the batboy. I remember getting on the bus after the game and saying to myself, 'I want to play for that man.'"

Inspired by Gilligan's coaching style and mannerism, Tildsley would join the team, where he served as captain during his senior year. Following his career at WHS, Tildsley went on to play baseball for four years at North Adams State College. While in college, Tildsley was recognized for both baseball and basketball in the 1973 college edition of Who's Who in America.

Tildsley also payed homage to his high school basketball coach, saying that "he taught me what family was all about." He served as the point guard for the Wildcats during his junior and senior years, and would go on to play the position for three years at North Adams State College.

After his college days were over, Tildsley would return to Wilmington, where he served as head coach of the Wilmington High School Girls Basketball team. In 1996, Tildsley was appointed head coach of the Andover High School Girls Basketball Team. In just two years, he guided the team to a State Championship.

ootball played a prominent role in Tildsley's high school areer. Says Tildsley, "Football as the sport...well, I hated footbball. There was just something pecial about playing football, though."

He credits his high school football coaches with installing in him values of discipline and respect. At one point in his speech, Tildsley noted that "There was nothing better than 5 tough days at practice and a Saturday victory."

In his senior year, Tildsley became quarterback of the Wildcats, leading the team to a Co-Championship in the Merrimack Valley Conference. The Wildcats only loss that year came to an equally talented Dracut squad, a game in which Tildsley was "as sick as a dog."

While success followed Tildsley at every corner, he professed that individual accolades meant little in comparison to team accomplishments.

"I wasn't the best," he says, "but I was always in it for the team."

Being part of the team meant alot to Tildsley. In regards to the basketball team, he said "Its not about the 12th player or the best player - it's about being a part of it."

The matter closest to Tildsley's heart, however, is his family. During his speech, he noted that "For those of you out there who are parents, I'm sure you will agree that there is nothing better than sitting and watching your children perform. There is just nothing that can compare to that. It's so much better than being out there and playing yourself."

Throughout his speech, Tildsley was quick to extend praise to other inductees, calling fellow Hall of Famer Mike Lombard "the greatest player to ever step on a Wilmington High School court."

He extended praise and gratitude to his family and to his former coaches for their support and guidance. Others were just as quick to return the praise.

Doug Anderson had much to say about Tildsley as a person. Anderson was quick to point out that Tildsley was just as revered by the Wilmington athletic community for his personal attributes as he was for his talent. In a moving tribute which brought him close to tears, Anderson said that Tildsley gained respect from everyone wherever he went. Anderson's words could not have been more accurate.

For over twenty years, Tildsley has dedicated himself to coaching teams in and around Wilmington. His success at Wilmington High School, as both an athlete and as a coach, is astounding. But it is what Tildsley does off the court - from his duties as an Assistant Principal at the Middle School, to the role he plays in the lives of the athletes he coaches, both on and off the court, that distinguishes this extraordinary individual.

Doug Anderson, frankly, said it best: "Jim is a unique breed among men - he takes more pride in the people around him than himself. No one could be a better recipient for this award."

Rick Barry, the ultimate team player

By VALERIE CWIEKOWSKI
Sports Correspondent

During Richard Barry's induction to the WHS Athletic Hall of Fame Saturday Night, friend and fellow Hall of Famer Ed Woods called Barry "the most unselfish human being I've ever met."

Throughout Woods' speech, which included a letter from TMHS Athletic Director Bob Alyward, it became increasingly evident that many of Barry's colleagues and fellow athletes have high praise for this talented individual.

Richard Barry graduated from Wilmington High School in 1973. During his four years at WHS, Barry was involved in football and winter and spring track. Rick earned two of his seven varsity letters in football. In Rick's senior year, he was a defensive back for the team, which sat atop the polls for eight weeks. The 1973 team, on which Rick played an integral role, is the last undefeated Varsity Football team from WHS.

Barry spent all four years running both winter and spring track at the high school. During his senior year, he captained both the winter and spring teams, leading the respective teams to records of 8-1 and 7-2. In his Junior year, Barry was on the shuttle hurdles team which placed 2nd in the State. He lead the relay team to a 4th place finish in the State Meet. Rick finished his running career at WHS

Martinello strived on being a student-athlete

Gina Martinello Cuozzo

Martinello has a long list of accomplishments both in the classroom and on the field throughout her high school and collegiate athletic career. But when he gave her acceptance speech on Saturday night, she didn't praise her own hard work.

She said she had to thank five people. First came her older brother Mario. She said he never knew that he was always his sister's inspiration in sports. He'd take her in the backyard and although he kept telling her that she threw like a girl, he kept working her hard - she said that has taken her a long way.

She then talked about her younger brothers Joe and Mike and what they both mean to her. Both of them were athletes themselves, as Joe was a cross country runner at Bentley College, and Mike is currently one of the leading scorers at St. Anselm's College.

After talking about her brothers, she started to talk about her parents.

"They are the best two role models a kid could have," she said as she tried to hold back her tears. "Thirty-five years ago they came to this country - and to do what they have done, to raise the four of us ... they watched every game the four of participated in."

Her softball coach Paul Lyman started his coaching days at WHS as Martinello was a senior.

"What Gina did at both Wilmington and Providence College is truly amazing," said Lyman. "Gina is the ultimate student-athlete. She's the first one to come through [when I started coaching] and following in her footsteps is very hard. In softball she set the tone."

Gina excelled both academically and athletically while attending Wilmington High School. She played field hockey, basketball and softball all four years and was named captain in all three sports her senior year. Freshman year, she was named the Most Outstanding Freshman Girl for academics and athletics.

In field hockey, as goalie, Gina defended her team to two MVC Championships, was voted three times to the MVC All Conference Team, was a two time Lowell Sun All-Star and in her senior year was voted a member of the Boston Herald All-Scholastic Team. Gina still holds the Wilmington High School record for most saves during a season.

In basketball, serving as point guard, Gina was voted two times to the MVC All Conference Team and in her senior year was a Lowell Sun All -Star and voted the team MVP.

In softball, Gina became one of the league's top pitchers being voted two times to the MVC All Conference Team and during her senior year was Lowell Sun All Star and voted team MVP.

Gina was the recipient of the Dr. Gerald A. Fagan Award for the most outstanding female athlete her senior year. In addition to her athletic accomplishments, she was also a member of the National Honor Society and a recipient of the following awards:

Top Ten Award, National Scholar-Athlete Award, Commonwealth Scholar Award, DECA Award, Presidential Academic Fitness Award and the Sons of Italy Italian-American Athletic Achievement Award.

As a sophomore, Gina was chosen to represent Wilmington High School at the High O'Brien Leadership Seminars.

After high school, Gina received an academic/athletic scholarship to play field hockey at Providence College. She played field hockey for four years winning a Big East Championship as well as being named a Big East Academic All Star and an All Big East Regional All American. Gina still holds the field hockey record for most saves during a game.

At Providence College, Gina became an ice hockey goalie for the first time her sophomore year. She played three years winning a National ECAC Championship each year. Gina was the recipient of the Providence College Sin Quo Non Award meaning, "Without Whom There is Nothing." With a 3.0 GPA, Gina received a degree in Accounting and was named to the Providence College Athletic Director Academic Honor Roll.

She is also a recipient of the Wilmington High School Alumni Award.

The Wilmington Hall of Fame Induction ceremonies were held on Saturday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall. This year's inductees include: benefactor Bon Surran, coach Paul Lyman, athletes Mike Lombard, Gina Martinello, Jim Tildsley and Rick Barry, and the 1974 boys' spring track team.

Bob Surran, Benefactor

Bob Surran was the unanimous choice of the Hall of Fame Selection Committee. As one can imagine, the thought of inducting a Tewksbury High School (1969) grad into the Wilmington High School Hall of Fame is not something people from Wildcat country would ever come close to considering, unless of course that person was truly special. Such is the case with our "Benefactor" for the Hall of Fame Class of 2000.

Robert E. Surran, a Marine Veteran, and a thirty year employee of Bell Atlantic, serving the past twenty years in a supervisory position. Upon settling in Wilmington in the early 70's, Surran served as CCD teacher at St. Thomas of Villanova for ten years.

During this time and over the next 20 years, Surran demonstrated his commitment to the students of Wilmington serving as a Youth Soccer Coach, a Little League coach, and President of Little League for ten years.

His interest in his children's education found him running for the Wilmington School Committee where he was elected for two terms as Chairperson twice. He served on the Board of Directors and as a coach for the Wildcat Summer Softball Program. This program helped pave the way for two high school state championships in 1993 and 1994.

Perhaps the most telling example of his efforts to provide programs to our student athletes is the Youth Field Hockey program he created. Over the past six years, Surran has devoted countless hours organizing, scheduling, officiating and funding this program for the benefit of the young female athletes of our community.

Surran has provided thousands of Wilmington student-athletes an opportunity to participate because of his unselfish commitment and dedication.

Boys' Spring Track 1974

The Wildcats had a very good year, going 9-0 winning the Merrimack Valley Conference League, as well as the Class D State Championship Title, while they came a mere one-point away from beating Brockton in the All-State Meet. Yet, in spite of those remarkable achievements, the highlight of the season was the Andover meet.

In terms of quality of the competition, the highs, the lows, the agony, the ecstasy - the Andover meet had it all.

Andover had won 93 meets in a row and had not lost in eleven years. No team in the MVC had defeated the Golden Warriors in winter or spring track. On April 29, they meet their Waterloo. The Wildcats' pulsating 74-71 victory was not easy, however. Wilmington was up by as many as ten points and down by as many as eleven.

Over the final eleven events, Wilmington led only once -- after the last event. The 4x400 relay team stole the show and sealed the victory. Two running strides was the margin. Tim Nee, Dave Spring, Dave Roueche and Steve Coville led wire-to-wire but boy, was it close.

Fourteen Wilmington athletes scored in the meet; four were double winners - Captain Doug Stewart, Tim Nee, Rick McCully and Bruce Bishop. Stewart, Nee and Roueche scored in three events. Seven third place finishes contributed mightily to the victory.

Don Capone's unexpected thirds in both the high and low hurdles had the Warriors scratching their collective heads." Who the heck is that guy?" was frequently heard. Running behind McCully does guarantee anonymity. Bob Reid, Paul Reed, Ian McInnis and the Spring Brothers, Doug and Dave, gained priceless seconds as well.

After the drama of Andover, the Class Championships were next on the agenda. Again there was an electric atmosphere to the competition. Again the final relay would be determining factor. Dartmouth had to beat Wilmington. This time it was not so close. Wilmington took first, Dartmouth did not place. Now on to the All-States at UMass.

Brockton's powerhouse scored quick 18 points with three first place finishes in the field events. Wilmington did not get on the board until the 4x220 team of Bruce Bishop, Paul Fitch, McCully and Stewart lost by a two-inch whisker, but still took a second place.

McCully's gold-medal performance in the 180 low hurdles bolstered by Stewart's third in the 220 closed the gap on Brockton by five points.

The 4x400 relay team again would be the decisive event. Alas, this time, it was not to be. The team of Nee, Dave Cain (substituting for the injured Dana Roueche), Dave Spring and Coville - moved from fifth place to second place as Coville received the final hand-off looking at a 15-yard deficit. He drew within two yards before running out of track. Wilmington had a new school record at 3:26.6. Brockton had the state title, IB-17.

During Saturday night's ceremonies, Coach Frank Kelley called each and every member who was present up to the podium and said, "This is a team to remember, a team never to forget and a team who will never forget those moments and will never forget each other."

In just ten years, Coach Lyman makes his mark

By VALERIE CWIEKOWSKI
Sports Correspondent

With Wilmington High School softball coach Paul Lyman's induction into the WHS Athletic Hall of Fame Saturday night, there is no longer any room for debate: Lyman is simply one of the greatest coaches Wilmington will ever see.

Lyman is one of the most dedicated coaches. Along with being named the Coach of the Decade and Coach of the Year twice by the Town Crier, Lyman has been the recipient of such prestigious awards such as: the Boston Globe Coach of the Year, The Merrimack Valley Coach of the Year (twice), and the Lowell Sun Coach of the Year (twice).

Since his softball coaching career begin in 1990 at WHS, Lyman has coached 2 College All-Americans, 1 College Academic All-American, 2 High School All-American nominees, 5 Boston Herald/Globe All Scholastic All Stars, 16 first team Lowell Sun All Stars, and 3 League Most Valuable Players. Many of Lyman's players go on to successful college careers at prominent athletic and academic schools.

During his salute to Lyman, Shawsheen Tech coach Ed Henry bestowed a glowing tribute to the coaching czar. Henry said that "Lyman put Wildcat softball on the map...He was one of the best big gamers I've ever seen."

Henry pointed out Lyman's record as a coach, where his teams have complied an astonishing 166 win, 77 loss record, while averaging 15 wins a season. Henry noted that Lyman always put together a great staff, something which Lyman himself acknowledged during his own speech.

"It's the assistant coaches, such as Jake Townsend - they are the reason WHS softball is on the map," Lyman stated during his speech.

Lyman lauded his own coaching idols, including fellow Hall of Fame Coach Dick Scanlon and Ed Henry. Lyman was also quick to praise the athletes he has coached over the years, saying "I wouldn't be up here without the kids who played for me - they're the reason I'm up here."

Undoubtedly, Lyman has coached some remarkably talented athletes over the years. He embodies the necessary qualities for a legendary coach: an eye for talent, a genius coaching style, and as Henry pointed out, a knack for getting along with parents.

For the past ten years, Lyman has guided the WHS softball team to extraordinary glory. With his direction and leadership, WHS won back to back State Championships in 1993 and 1994. With his coaching, Paul Lyman himself put WHS softball on the map.

Rick Barry, the ultimate team player

with a total of five varsity letters in track, and would go on to run for two more years at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

While speaking to the audience Saturday night, Barry professed his love for running.

"I think people think I ran track to stay in shape for football," he says, "but it wasn't further from the truth." Barry re-iterated Woods' earlier remarks, stating that "I wasn't by any means the fastest athlete we had, but it was always about the team."

Barry credited Hall of Fame coach Frank Kelly with his success in hurdling, saying "I think Mr. Kelly believed hurdling was in my blood."

Throughout his speech, Barry exalted praise on the Wilmington athletic program. For Barry, being involved in WHS athletics at the time was a great accomplishment.

"I got to play in a time when Wilmington athletics was in its day - we were battling for the MVC crown," he said.

While at WHS, Barry's teams had remarkable records of success - a tribute to this consummate team athlete.

Despite his astounding success as an athlete at WHS, Barry is quick to point out that sports was never the most important aspect of life. He expressed tremendous praise and gratitude to his mother for her arduous work and dedication to him. In a touching tribute to his family and friends, Barry said that "Sports helps bring out character, which is re-inforced by family."

When Barry found out that he had been selected for the WHS Hall of Fame, he said "I was both honored and surprised - surprised that I was selected, and truly honored to be inducted with relatives and some of the greatest athletes I've ever seen or played with."

Richard Barry truly epitomizes what WHS athletics is about - team first, individual second. When Wilmington athletes walk past the plaque on their way to practices and games, they will undoubtedly be walking in the shadow of one of Wilmington's finest.

Under 10B Boys finish strong

The U10B Wildcats capped the season on a winning note Saturday defeating Lincoln 3-1 behind the combined net minding of Joe Cerbone and Dylan Reed.

The first half proved to be a defensive gem for the Wildcats as Cerbone shut out Lincoln with superb goaltending while getting excellent defensive backup from Dan Hunt, Drew Cazeau and Reed.

At the other end of the field the offense was doing its job with Scott Bonish, Matt Hachey, Eric Parsons and Danny Dellisola keeping constant pressure on Lincoln. But it was Chris Thibualt with great ball control to give the Wildcats its first goal of the game.

In the second half Dellisola continued the scoring attack with a well-placed shot into the corner of the net to give Wilmington a 2-0 score. Lincoln responded with a goal of its own but not before being denied several times by Reed. Cazeau, Cerbone and Hunt made certain that would be the only score of the game for Lincoln with great defense.

With Thibault, Parsons and Hachey moving the ball well on offense, Bonish banged home the final goal of the game with a rebound shot off the post that rocketed into the net.

The Wildcats were without the services of Matt Morabito for the final three games of the year whose talent and contribution was notably missed.

Locals doing well at collegiate level

For the second straight year, Bentley College, has received a berth in the NCAA Division II Field Hockey Championships.

Tewksbury native Kristin Cronin is a returning letterman on the Falcon's squad.

Lock Haven University (Pa.) was selected to host the four team championship this weekend and the field will include Indiana University (Pa.) and St. Michael's College.

In the tournament's opening game, Bentley met Northeast-10 Conference rival, St. Michael's at noon on Friday, Nov. 3. The two teams were scheduled to meet Sunday in the NE 10 championship game in Colchester, Vt., but the contest was snowed out.

Lock Haven faced Indiana, Pa. at 3 p.m. Friday in the second semifinal in another inter-conference matchup. The national championship game was played at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5.

Bentley, coached by Kelly McGowan (one win away from her 100th career victory) features the Division II national leaders in goals, assists and points. Junior All-American Allyson Bunce had 29 goals, one shy of the Bentley and Northeast-10 Conference record held by her sister and a conference best 59 points, while senior midfielder Ann Marie Sheridan has broken the school and Division II national record with 21 assists.

A standout for the Falcons both offensively and defensively is senior Tara Zraunig who earned Division II All-American honors last season. She's third on the team in scoring (10-5-25) and anchors a defense that allows less than a goal a game. She's overcome deafness to excel on the field, with her story profiled in USA Today last week.

Other key players for the Falcons include junior forward Alicia Cabrera who has 10 goals and 11 assists, and senior defender Jean MacNeill.

Last year, only two teams were chosen, and Bloomsburg University captured its fourth straight championship, 2-0 over Bentley on the winner's home field.

Dellascio/Hurley/O'Brien

Former Wilmington High girls' soccer players Lisa Dellascio and Lynn Hurley, and former Tewksbury High soccer player Rachael O'Brien recently finished up their respective collegiate soccer seasons.

Dellascio is a sophomore at Salem State and she was among the team's scoring leaders. Hurley and O'Brien finished up their freshmen seasons at Fitchburg College. Hurley played every minute of every game. Fitchburg finished the season at 4-11 and Salem finished at 5-7-2.

Liz Dorrance

Freshman Liz Dorrance (Austin Prep/Wilmington) and the Ithaca College women's soccer team (11-4-2) hosted the University of Scranton (16-3-1) last Wednesday, November 1 at 1 p.m. in the opening round of the NCAA Division III Mid-Atlantic regional. Ithaca lost 2-1 in overtime.

Dorrance has played in four games thus far for Ithaca. The Bombers are making their 13th appearance in the NCAA tournament, only William Smith has played in more (14). Ithaca made four straight semifinal appearances from 1988 to 1991 and won the national championship in 1990 and 1991.

Kristen Thomas

The University of New Hampshire women's ice hockey team swept all three ECAC weekly honors on Monday as Michelle Thornton (Gloucester, Ontario) was named Player of the Week; Jennifer Huggon (Plymouth, MA) earned Goaltender of the Week honors and Kristen Thomas (Wilmington, MA) won Rookie of the Week.

The trio helped UNH begin the season 3-0-0 with a 7-0 victory at the University of Findlay and a weekend sweep at Ohio State (by a score of 4-0, 3-1).

Thornton, a senior forward and co-captain, recorded six points on three assists and three goals. She opened the season with three goals and an assist against Findlay. She reached a personal milestone in that game, her first tally with the 50th of her career. Thornton also had two helpers in the 4-0 win at OSU.

Huggon, a sophomore, recorded a career high 38 saves in the season opener at Findlay. She followed that with a 35 save performance at OSU to record her fifth career shutout and back-to-back shutouts for the second time in her career. Huggon closed the week with a 30 save effort, including 17 in the second period, to improve the 3-0-0. Overall, Huggon stopped 103 of 104 shots for a .990 save percentage and a 0.33 goals against average.

Thomas, a defenseman, netted three goals last week. She made an immediate impact in her first game as a Wildcat by getting the game winning goal against Findlay. She also scored two power play goals in the 3-1 victory against the Buckeyes.

Mendoza/Petros

Kelly Ward, a senior from Byfield (Triton Regional H.S.) has been named to the Northeast 10 Conference Field Hockey All-Star Team while freshmen Laura Petros (Tewksbury) and Patrice Mendoza (Wilmington) were also selected to the team.

Petros closed the year as the River Hawks leading scorer with seven goals and four assists and ranked 13th among NE10 scoring leaders. A forward, she was capable of scoring clusters and registered all three goals in a 3-1 win over Salem State Oct. 11. She also chipped in two goals and dished one assist in a 3-1 win over Plymouth State Sept. 6.

Petros was named the NE10 Freshman of the Week twice and was cited to the NE 10 Weekly Honor Roll once.

Mendoza, a goalkeeper, wasted no time adapting to the college game and played every minute of each match this season. She posted a 2.23 goals against average and halted 204 of 248 shots on goal (.823) over 1,381 minutes.

Mendoza also shut out four opponents in her first five games as a collegian and was named the NE10 Freshman of the Week twice.

Terrific season ends for young girls soccer team

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

They weren't suppose to be in the state tournament. And they probably weren't even suppose to give Central Catholic a game. But once again the very young Wilmington High girls soccer team proved everyone wrong. Although they lost 1-0 to a very good Red Raiders squad in the first round of the Division 3 North sectional state tournament on Saturday afternoon at Greater Lawrence Voc Tech, the Wildcat girls surely ended their season on top.

Central Catholic scored the lone goal of the game in the first half on a ball that came right down off the cross bar and just went over the goal line. Wilmington had two terrific opportunities to score, but Central's keeper Zibby McCleary made sensational saves on both giving Central the win and ending a marvelous season for the 'Cats.

"I think when we started out 3-0, I was losing sight of the fact they were starting 4-5 freshmen and 4-5 sophomores every game," said coach Sue Hendee. "We came in with minimal expectations and we played very well today. It was a great game. Either team could have won. I'm disappointed that we didn't win, but I'm not disappointed with the effort."

It seemed like when Wilmington applied pressure down in the Central end – especially in the second half – Wilmington had a very tough time moving the ball in close.

"It was even the whole game," said Hendee. "Whenever we had the ball in the offensive zone their defense really shut us down. They have a great defense and they didn't give us any space."

Early in the first half, junior league all-star Diane Dellascio was robbed of a goalie when McCleary made a leaping tip save with her hand. Then with minutes left in the game, Rachel See's header was saved just over the head of teammate Danielle Spry off a Lauren Rappoli corner kick.

Those were the two glaring opportunities to score for the 'Cats, and although they didn't crack one home, they certainly held their own against a very good team.

"We should have shot more," said senior all-conference selection Cristina DeSimone. "But they kept a lot more people back so it was packed in the middle of the field [making it hard for us to move the ball]."

Kristen Pelletier, Michele Lemos, Ashley Steenbruggen and Mary Sullivan all played very well in the losing effort.

Wilmington ends its season at 10-6-3 overall, which is very impressive considering the program lost 9 seniors from last year and the majority of their players were underclassmen. Wilmington will be losing several key players to graduation including DeSimone, Lemos, Pelletier and keeper Becky Rufo. Jenny Michaud, Jen McGowan, Kendal O'Dea and Lisa Dineen will also be lost and missed.

"The seniors will be a very tough group to replace," said Hendee. "Emotionally they were a great group of players and a great group of kids."

The future looks very bright for the program with just one junior Diane Dellascio, and a very impressive underclassmen group including Steenbruggen, Sullivan, Lauren Rappoli, See, Michael Rufo, Spry, Jen Leone, Emily Dorrance and Allison Flynn all returning with several years left and lots of varsity playing time under them. If the team finds a goalie to replace Rufo, more state tournament appearances should certainly come often in the future.

Cross Country teams perform strong

The Wilmington High cross country teams participated in Saturday's state coaches meet held at Franklin Park in Boston. For Wilmington, Shayne Gaffney topped the freshmen race taking 24th overall at 11:08 in the 1.85 mile course. Nick Eaton (19:23) and Steve Berry (20:06) followed. In the sophomore race, Dan Vassallo led the way with an 19:38 time, followed by Greg Buck (21:38) and Jordan Weiner (21:13). Meghan Fudge, Athena Karaelkas and Jenn Jensen also ran well int he junior/senior race.

Michelle Brush and Jackie Brown both didn't race because of injuries.

DeSimone ends solid career

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Cristina DeSimone has been through it all in her four-year varsity soccer career. But last Saturday ended her career as the girls' soccer team lost in the first round of the state tournament, 1-0, to Central Catholic. But for DeSimone, the loss isn't as painful as what she has gone through during her high school athletic career.

Cristina DeSimone

Before entering Wilmington High she tore knee cartilage in her ACL, during a youth soccer game as an eighth grader. That forced her to wear a huge knee brace through her first three years of play. The knee brace limited it her movement, sometimes altered her kicking, and certainly slowed her down a bit.

This year the knee brace was removed and she wore a much softer, smaller brace which didn't effect her play. Actually without the brace on, it was painfully obvious just how much her play improved. Her movement was better, her kicks were certainly more powerful, more accurate and went for longer distances.

Besides her physical pain, DeSimone went through the pain of watching a very talented team last year win just a handful of games, while they didn't make it to the post season when the program thought it had a shot of making a serious run in the state tournament.

So then came this year. No knee brace. No expectations. And for DeSimone it couldn't have been scripted much better - she was a senior captain who was voted as an all-conference player as a midfielder, while, her leadership certainly provided the younger kids the confidence to be successful. As one of just three returning seniors who started last season, DeSimone wanted to make sure what happened last year didn't happen again during her senior season.

"This year we wanted to play more, we wanted to win more," she said. "We got all got along with each other. There wasn't any fighting. This was the best team I played for. We all had so much fun - all of us got along."

DeSimone said she didn't know what to think at the start of the season when the team got together for pre-season workouts. But now that the season is over, she realized what she was a part of.

"From the beginning I had no idea what to think," she said. "We lost a lot of players. I knew we still had some skill left but I didn't know how we would play together. But we did really well - we had a very good season."

And now it's over.

"It hasn't hit me yet," she said. "The past four years have been great. I've had a lot of fun and I'm really sad that it's over."

Head coach Sue Hendee said DeSimone has been the heart-and-soul of the team and it's going to very tough finding another heart as big as hers.

"She's a tremendous leader," said Hendee, "on and off the field. I think she was really responsible of why the girls were so emotionally bonded. She kept the girls spirits up. The kids really respected her.

reason why the 'Cats went from a three win season to a 12-win season, including ending it with a 2-0 loss to Marblehead in the second round of the Division 3 North sectional tournament at MHS on Monday afternoon.

When the team needed a win or a big game Alosco came through. Scanlon had also said that "when [Alosco] wants to play, he can play]". Tuesday was a perfect example of that.

Alosco saves his best game for last. He made 12 saves in all, and didn't have a chance to save either goal Marblehead scored on him. He made two outstanding hands saves on Marblehead's top gun Peter Chage, not to mention several other gutsy saves which he had to charge out from his net to get.

But Alosco really didn't want to talk about his diving saves after the loss.

"We should be very proud of our season," he said. "To be down 0-3 and 3-6 and come back and play these guys in the second round of the tournament is something I know I'm proud of. I'm proud of the team.

"Tim Riley was awesome, he is so tough. Adam [Jensen] was put in a tough position [taking a penalty kick] and that's a lot of pressure. But he's a player, he scored four goals in the game against Tewksbury. That's tough. Mike Halas, Sean Cannon, Jason Gustin -- a lot of credit has to go to those guys too. This was a great season that we should all remember."

What should also be remembered is the performance Alosco gave in his last game as a Wildcat. With the score 1-0, Marblehead put on pressure late in the first half but Alosco made a nice leaping save on several defenders to switch some of the momentum back.

In the second half, Alosco robbed the very talented Chage not once, but twice. With 30 minutes left in the game, Chage was fed a pass to the right of Alosco about ten yards out. Chage was all alone, slipped a bit, lunged forward and directed a rocket shot which appeared to be going inside the left post. Alosco came diving out of no where and made a sensational left handed sprawling save.

"Most every save [is reaction]," he said. "You just hope you are in the right spot at the right time with your hands up and you see the ball come off his foot."

Almost the same save was made with three minutes to go in the game - all of that came after several outstanding saves keeping the state tournament contest a two-goal difference.

"He played one of his strongest games," said Scanlon. "He certainly came to play today."

half, Alosco made a very impressive left hand save on a bullet by Chage who was all alone in front. And with a few minutes left in the game, trailing 2-0, Alosco robbed him again on another big hand save.

"He played one of his strongest games ever," said Scanlon, of Alosco who made 12 saves. "He came ready to play."

And so did the rest of the team including Tim Riley, who played a phenomenal game leaving a mark that shouldn't be forgotten.

"Riley is tough - he saved my butt so many times," said Alosco. "He should be proud."

Also playing very well was Sean Cannon on defense, midfielder Chris Calway, whose hustle alone broke up a golden scoring chance for Marblehead in the first half, and forwards Jensen and Matt Goldblatt.

Wilmington started the season 0-3 and 3-6 and finished up 12-8.

"You don't like to see your season end this way, but unless you win the state title you will always end [the tournament] with a loss," said Scanlon. "All in all it was a great season. To win nine of your last ten games [prior to Monday's loss] is very impressive."

Field Hockey team bounced

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

In the game of field hockey, one break, one good hit, one call or one play can determine the outcome of a game, no matter who the better players are or who the better team is.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Wilmington High Field Hockey team made its first state tournament appearance since winning the league in 1997.

The game was shifted at the last minute from Alumni Stadium to Glen Road, and even on a field the team wasn't used to, the 'Cats dominated Rockport who all but one play of the entire game.

That one play, a scurry in front of Wilmington's net, eluded to the lone goal for Rockport, which gave them the 1-0 win and sent Wilmington home for the season.

"It's sad, I feel really bad for the seniors," said coach Patti Cushing. "We dominated 90 percent of the game. We played excellent, the kids really played outstanding.

"We had the ball in their end almost the entire game with shot, after shot after shot - we just couldn't score. Everything was clicking for us, except we couldn't put the ball in the net."

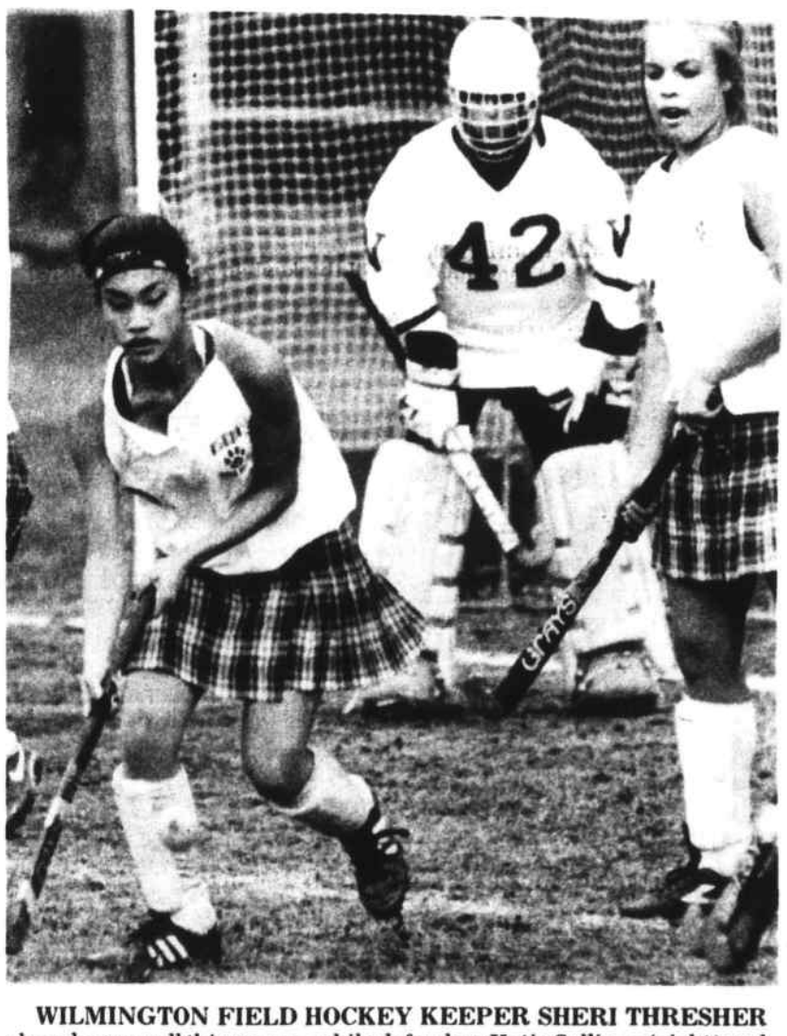

Cushing said two of her defenders Jackie Rubino and Katelyn Sughrue were doing a splendid job sending the ball out of the 'Cats end the few chances Rockport had. But the one chance they did have to score, they got some wood on the shot which landed in the goal despite a logjam of traffic out front.

"They kids went until the last second thinking they were going to tie it up," said Cushing. "They had that one chance and they scored and we had many chances and just couldn't."

As for the season, the team went from winning three games last year, to winning eleven and qualifying for the state tournament. That says a lot right there of their accomplishments led by senior co-captains Kim Gillespie and Katelyn Sughrue.

Pee Wee A's take on big Malden team

Dual State Hockey action Saturday morning saw the Cats Pee Wee I team pitted against the big Malden I team. The Cats came out playing aggressive hockey, forcing the play and jumping on the loose pucks. Malden fought hard but the Cats held the upper hand in this contest.

Not until midway through the second period did the Cats hit the twine with Dave Rizzo putting one away with Steve Stokes and Derek Fitzpatrick getting the helpers. Mike Fay knocked in the second goal from in close with Nick Yeomelakis and Dan Tobin getting the puck into the offensive zone.

The last two goals came from Tony Resendes; the first helped out by George Dighton and Jason Buckley while Tony did it by himself on the last goal! Defensively Billy Schultes and Warren Fitzpatrick turned away any Malden rush that came down into their zone while Ray Bennett and Brad Fraser moved the puck shortly up to the forwards to get it out of the zone!

Jimmy Good had an easy time in net for a change, but took care of the shots that did make it into him. Final, Wilmington 4-0.

Bantam C's tie Wakefield in terrific battle

The Wilmington Bantam C's would like to start off the season by thanking their sponsor, Jim M. Fitzpatrick of J.M. Fitzpatrick Trucking. They would also like to thank their coaches who a have taken time from their schedule to spend with them. They are Don Heenan, Kevin Richards, Gerry Thibault and Bob Olson.

Wilmington 3, Wakefield 3

It's that time of year again and parity is over. The season is officially underway. The C's have two great goaltenders this year. Michael Thibault and Tim Anderson, they both do a super job. Although the C's did not take the win, they did a great job tying up this game.

First period Tim Anderson, goaltender did a great job blocking the shots Wakefield took on his net. First period belonged to the C's and getting assists for the upcoming goal at 7:09 were Donny Heenan as he made a nice pass to Jason Blackburn who passed it to Derick Duarte who lit the lamp as he took the pass to the net to score. Also helping them out was Chris Hope by checking his opponents to the boards, taking them out of play. Tommy Lee took the puck away from Wakefield and got it out of the zone.

Second period goaltender Mike Thibault covered the net. He did a good job tying up shots Wakefield tried to put in. Wakefield battled to take over and it seemed that they might at 9:05 Wakefield scored; at 4:53 Wakefield scored another but with the good back checking and passing of Jimmy Fitzpatrick and Robbi Riccio the C's tied it up when Tommy Blaisdell took an assist on this nice pass to Jay Surianello who lit the lamp from the blueline at 4:20. Steve Emery did a great job with speed taking the puck from his opponent along with checking.

The third period saw both teams skating hard to keep it out of their zone. Misha Glazomigski did a good job clearing the puck from his zone. Chris Olson did a good job checking his opponent to the board. Bryant Buck rode Wakefield along the boards, getting the puck free to clear it. Steffan Tosi did a good taking the puck out of play, getting it to his teammates.

At 5:48 Wakefield scored the C's battle to tie up before the period ended with :24 left Jay Surianello got an assist when he completed a pass to Tom Blaisdell who skated up and shot it in to score, keeping the game at a tie. Good job C's.

Squirt E's keep up face pace style

The Wilmington Squirt E hockey team had hoped to capture the momentum of their victorious Valley League season opened over Andover and bring it to last Saturday's matchup against Reading. The strong skating Reading team had other plans however.

The fast paced first period was an even contest with Reading putting on some early pressure in the Wilmington zone. Defensemen Justin Rivera, Chris Welch, Dean Moran and Jared Hayes held tough against the speedy Reading skaters. Goalie Richie Murray came up with many big stops to keep Reading off the board.

Wilmington opened up the scoring with the line of Jeff Harris, Andrew Flodin and Billy Liston. They reversed the Reading assault with some offensive pressure of their own. Good passing and hustle led to a goal scored by Flodin, with an assist to Liston. Unfortunately for Wilmington, Reading roared right back and evened the score on a rebound shot.

Reading took control of the game in the second period, playing strong positional hockey. Murray was kept busy in net with shot after shot. A great passing play ended in a Reading goal which put them ahead 2-1. From there Reading broke it open with three more unanswered goals. The last of which came after Wilmington's line of Ryan Kennedy, Chris Colosimo and Timothy Marten tried to get their team back into the game with some pressure of their own. The Reading goalie stood up to it though and a clearing pass started the rush up ice which saw Murray make the initial save. He was sprawled in the crease trying to tie it up as the Reading forward poked in the loose puck.

Wilmington played a better third period but was unable to get it going offensively. Solid backchecking by Harris and Flodin, who seemed to be everywhere this night, and some good defensive plays by Hayes and Rivera showed everyone they were not about to give up. They quieted the Reading offense down but had to settle for their first defeat of the regular season.

The Squirt E's will take the bye week to prepare for their next opponent, Pentucket, on Sunday November 19 and hope to get back on the winning track.

Pee Wee A's take on Medford

The game went back and forth after the Cats settled down, giving up one more goal in the middle of the second. Jimmy Good played well for the amount of shots he faced in the game making some great saves.

Wilmington Pop Warner D-Wilmington 7 vs. Northboro 6

The Wildcats won a tough battle in their first Division II Championship Playoff Game this Thursday night against Northboro, 7 to 6.

In the first quarter, there was great offensive play from the Cats Anthony Morlani, Stevie Sughrue and Scott Sutherland. The defensive line proved just as tough with great play from David Reed, Frankie Sorrentino, Kevin Carter and Andrew Valente. Good blocking from Chris Murphy and Marc Grassia gave opportunities for good runs to Anthony Morlani and Zack Fahey.

Northboro took over on downs and was able to score a touchdown, but great defensive determination from Jimmy Celeste and Frank Sorrentino stopped the extra point. The Wildcat offense carried the ball down the field with Justin Cerra handing off to George D'Amelio and Ryan Savini with great blocking help from teammates Lenny Colometo, Dean Moran, Ryan McCarthy, Dillon Halliday and Daved Melkonian.

Northboro again took over on downs, but was held at a standstill by great defensive play from Brad Jackson, Dom McCann and Matt Companeschi. Stevie Sughrue had a great tackle on the fourth down which turned the ball back to the Cats. Ernie Mello was able to make a couple of key first downs thanks to great blocking from Andy Valente and Scott Sutherland, but the Cats were unable to capitalize.

Northboro got the ball back, but were stopped cold by the awesome defense of Daniel McCarthy and Stevie Baker.

After the half the Cats came back with more tough defense, making it hard for Northboro to move the ball down the field with Dan McCarthy making more great tackles and Anthony Nihan helping to stop Northboro in their tracks.

Wilmington regained possession, and pushed the ball down the field, fighting for every yard, with great blocking from teammates Anthony Nihan, David Reed and Kyle Lunt, giving Ernie Mello, Zack Fahey and Anthony Morlani some great runs getting the ball down to the 20-yard line. Ernie Mello took over at the 20 and zigzagged his way all the way into the end zone for the Cats first score.

Then some excellent blocking gave Ernie Mello enough room to push his way into the zone again for the all-important extra point, putting the Cats ahead. Northboro's offense couldn't get by the tough defense of Wilmington's Nick Clark who made some key tackles to stop their offensive, and the Wildcats were able to hold on to their lead and win the game.

They'd like to thank friends and family for traveling all the way to Arlington to support them, and a special thanks to the D-Team Cheerleaders for coming along and cheering for them.

Wilmington - 20 vs.Reading - 0

In their second Playoff Game, Wilmington's D-Team took down Reading 20 to 0.

They came out strong with great offensive play from David Reed, Scott Sutherlandm Marc Grassia and Anthony Nihan. Ernie Mello ran for a couple of key first downs. The Cats couldn't quite capitalize, but the Defense held Reading at a standstill with great tackling from Frank Sorrentino, Anthony Morlani and Andrew Valente, giving the ball back to the Cats.

With awesome blocking help from Jimmy Celeste, Kyle Lunt, and Nick Clark, Zack Fahey had an awesome run, breaking tackles and spinning off opponents to bring the ball into the end zone for the Cats first score.

Ernie Mello plowed his way through the Reading defensive line for the extra point. Reading was unable to penetrate Wilmington's tough defense, with great tackles from Nick Clark and Andrew Valente and the Cat's offensive line took over. Justin Cerra handed off to Ryan Savini and George D'Amelio for some great runs with Dean Moran, Ryan McCarthy, Daved Melkonian, Dillon Halliday and Lenny Colometo doing some great blocking.

After the half, the Cats offense came back strong, with Kevin Carter, Jimmy Celeste, Dan McCarthy and Chris Murphy lending some great blocking for teammates Ernie Mello and Anthony Morlani to get some big gains with awesome runs. Then Zack Fahey got some good blocking and was able to cut his way through Reading to get into the end zone again for the Cats second touchdown.

Again, Ernie Mello pushed his way into the end zone for the extra point. Incredible defense from Stevie Baker, Matt Companeschi, Dom McCann and Brad Jackson, kept Reading at a standstill. Wilmington regained possession, and the Cats offense pushed the ball down the field, setting up Ernie Mello for a beautiful run into the end zone for the Cats third touchdown of the day.

Anthony Morlani and Andrew Valente had some wonderful tackles and Matt Companeschi had a QB sack, keeping Reading from making any headway. Ryan Savini and Jimmy Celeste put in some good runs for the Cats, and the game ended with the Cats having a very good showing.

The D-Team would like to give a special thank you to all their family and fiends that toughed out the cold damp weather to see their triumph. Also, special thanks to the D-Team Cheerleaders, who also endured the terrible weather to cheer for their team! They'll be looking forward to their next playoff game, scheduled for next Thursday in Revere.

Wilmington Pop Warner C-Wilmington - 26 vs. Triton - 0

The Wilmington C-Team trounced Triton in their first tournament game for the "Best of the Rest" Tournament winning 26 to 0. Great offensive blocking from Chris Dancoe and Mike Laffarello set Tim Brady up for a fantastic run into the end zone for the Wildcats first touchdown of the game. Ryan Oliveri brought the ball in for the extra point. Awesome defense from Lou Cimaglia, Hank Shneckloth, Scott Dacko and Josh Giroux kept Triton from making much ground.

Wilmington took over the ball, and great offensive play from Mike Bartlett and Mike Giamberdino led the way for a great pass from Mike Fitzgerald to Ryan Oliveri who was in the end zone for the Cats second touchdown of the game then Josh Cuhna brought it in for the extra point. Triton could not penetrate the awesome defense of Jerry Smith, Sean McSweeney and Tim Brady. Patrick Cassidy and Nick Thorp had some excellent blocking which gave Mike Laffarello a run for a big gain and then Josh Cuhna had a great run into the end zone for the Cats third touchdown of the game.

The Cats defense kept Triton frustrated and the Cats took over the ball again. Great blocking from Johnny Kincaid, Joey Gore and John McGowan cleared a path for Shawn Fahey's impressive 30-yard run into the end zone for the fourth touchdown of the game for the Cats.

Mike Giamberdino came up with a key interception to again take the wind out of Triton's sails.

The game ended, mercifully so for the Tritons and for all the players who were in a muddy field with icy-cold , wet weather. The C-Team would like to thank everyone who stiffed out the weather and followed them to Methuen. They are looking forward to their next tournament matchup next week.

Mite C's hard work paying off

The spotlight was on the Wilmington Mite C's again and they were shining from the start against Amesbury.

Tommy Quilty got Wilmington started with some hard work in the corners. He dumped a nice pass out to Cody Wilkins who stick handled in from the left circle, made a good shot on net. He picked up his own rebound and popped it in the top corner

Amesbury came right back and Wilmington's goalie, Tommy Cushing shut the door on Amesbury and opened the door for Tommy Callahan who made a great rush from his defensive spot. With Tom's relatives watching (Shannon and Marissa from Topsfield) he broke in alone and blasted it in the net.

Into the second the action went, with Craig Benard in the middle of it in front of Amesbury's net. Craig gained control of the puck and fed Cody a nice pass, who shot in his second of game.

Now Wilmington had a slim lead and Wilmington's defensive corp took over led by Jimmy Mullen. With play in Amesbury's end Jimmy kept it there by holding the line and guarding the boards. Jimmy also made a smart pass over to defensive mate Kyle Gaffey who picked his spot and launched a rocket shot that almost knocked the net over.

Now with the spotlight looking for another star, out steps Brian "Hollywood" Hurley who with his co-stars Patrick Boudreau and Jimmy Stokes put on a passing and scoring clinic that was great to watch. This was capped off by Brian walking in alone and drilling one in for his first hat trick of the season.

After that Wilmington started to coast and they paid the price. Amesbury started closing in on Wilmington and once again Tommy Cushing was up to the pressure. Brian "Fitzy" Fitzpatrick solidified the front of the net for Wilmington by patrolling his area like a cop walking his beat.

Nick Masiello as usual made his presence felt by flying up and down the ice and never letting up. Patrick Young gets the award for trooper of the game for playing with a cut on his leg that reports say is very painful.

All in all a very satisfying win, but stay tuned in 12 hours they're back on the ice.

Mite C's vs Everett

The alarm clocks were ringing early and the Mite C's were back on the road to the homey confines of Hockey Town. This time it was pesky Everett. The back to back games didn't slow the C's at all. The game was highlighted by a shutout for goalie Jimmy Mullen.

Great two way play was turned in by Melissa Good who shows she has the heart of a lion every game. A scoring barrage by Matt Kasparian that when he came in on a breakaway and scored his third for his first hat trick, that wasn't enough, he had to score one more for good measure.

Wilmington ended up cruising. Everett played tough and did their best. Coach Cushing picked a good time to remind the kids about sportsmanship and being good winners. That's something we all need to be reminded of.

Ployer leads Pee Wee V's to victory

Chris Ployer scored three times and had two assists as the Wildcats' Pee Wee V youth hockey team beat Peabody in their first game of the season.

Wilmington jumped out to a quick 1-0 lead when Shultz made a nice pass to Creedon who redirected it to Ployer who tucked it into the corner of the net for Wilmington's first goal of the 2000 season. Wilmington goalie Cassie Secher shutout Peabody in the first by turning away every scoring opportunity with some great saves. Wilmington led by one after one.

The second period was all Wilmington. With 8:56 left to play, Ployer took a nice feed from Wamboldt and snapped a wrist shot by an over matched peabody goalie. The scoring did not stop there, just one minute later DiDomenico stole a pass from the Peabody offense, shuffled it in front of the net where Crowley was waiting for the shot. Crowley controlled the puck, took aim and blasted it past the outreached glove of the Peabody goalie.

Wilmington was not done, with 5:49 left in the second, Waite made a centering pass to Ployer who found the back of the net to bring the Wilmington lead to four.

Peabody did manager to score as time expired in the second, but it was too little too late. Wilmington scored two more goals in the third, the first coming when Ployer returned the favor to Waite and hit him in front of the net. Waite flipped it over the goalie's pad and the lead was back to four. Ployer scored his third goal with just 14 seconds to play.

DiDomenico, with his head up saw Ployer wide open on the far side of the net, fed the puck right on the money and Ployer put it away for the hat trick and the game. Wilmington played well on both sides of the ice with exceptional team efforts by Spurr, Heenan and Loring. If the Wildcats continue their headsup team play this will be a super season for the PeeWee Five's.

Matt Kincaid finished off the scoring with a rocket of a shot into the top corner.

While the offense was turning on the heat, the defense of Jesse Rossetti, Dan Cushing, Charles Barbaro and Kyle Creedon were stopping North Middlesex cold in their tracks. Matt Farrell was just as John O'Connell found the back of the net on a cannon of a shot. the assists going to Colin foley and Dan McDougall. Colin Foley answered back with an unassisted goal to give the Wildcats a 2-0 edge heading into the second period. Wakefield cut Wilmington's lead in half at the 9:56 mark of the second period.

Colin Foley added three more goals and an assist, John O'Connell added two more with two assists, while Charles Barbaro picked up the other assist. Sean Callahan played outstanding in the net turning aside 15 Wakefield shots.

The defense was at it's best while the play of Paul Bruce, Jesse Rossetti, Kyle Creedon and Charles Barbaro was superb. Brendan Murphy, Ed Barasso, Charlie Gendron, Matt Kincaid, Liam Gately, Matt Farrell, Dan McDougall and Dan Cushing played solid two way hockey.

Wilmington 4 Peabody 2

The Wilmington Mite A Team and Peabody hooked up for a pre Halloween slugfest, at the Ristuccia arena on October 29.

This was as hard fought a game as you will ever see. These two teams always bring the best hockey out of each other every time they meet. Wilmington took control early in the game when they lit the lamp at 7:55 of the first period. Ed Barrasso collected a super pass from Dan Cushing and fired it past the Peabody goalie to take a one goal lead.

Dan Cushing was the big play maker on the next goal when he skated around three Peabody attackers and dished off a great pass to Matt Kincaid who fired it home at 5:28 of the first period, to give the Wildcats a two goal cushion. Early in the second period Kyle Creedon would add an unassisted goal at 9:53 of the second period, with some smooth stickhandling and finishing it off with a rocket to beat the Peabody goaltender.

With the Wildcats up by three, you would think it is over right? Wrong Peabody never quit an put a scare into the Wildcats by scoring two goals at the 7:56 and 6:16 marks of the third period. Then it was time to bite back, as the Wildcats answered with their fourth goal on some grind work around the net by Danny McDougall at the 3:14 mark of the third period, with the assist going to Matt Farrell.

Adding some much needed offensive pressure were, Brendan Murphy, Liam Gately, Charlie Gendron and John O'Connell. Colin Foley was outstanding in the net stopping 16 Peabody scoring bids. The defense rose to the occasion once again as Jesse Rossetti, Paul Bruce, Charles Barbaro and Sean Callahan were like a stone wall at the Wilmington blue line.

THE WILMINGTON HIGH FOOTBALL TEAM improved to 8-1 on the season on Friday night at WHS. Above, Bobby French carries the ball upfield, and below Josh Hiltz does the same in the etam's 46-6 win over Lynnfield. (Photos by Joe Hakey).

Campbell part of wrecking crew

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

When a football team's defense has a top notch pass rush, usually means they have a top notch defense.

Senior Andy Campbell is one of the team's defensive ends, and he's a very good one at that. He's the one who applies the pressure to the quarterback trying to throw, and he's the one who has come up with big tackle after big tackle this season. He's the one who all but gave Wilmington a win over Pentucket, as his third down sack was the play which the infamous flag was thrown from back at the line of scrimmage.

Campbell has been a huge mainstay in the success of the Wildcats. As a first string defensive unit, Campbell and the other ten guys have given up just four touchdowns in nine games. The Wildcats have outscored their opponents 280-62, while the first team unit has given up just 29 of those points.

"He's dominant in his position," said coach Bob Almeida of Campbell. "He plays so well that [opposing team's running backs] just can't get outside of him. He's outstanding. I've had some good defensive ends here and he certainly ranks among the best of them, if not the best. He's very good at executing and making the plays he should and making the plays he shouldn't be making.

"He made the big plays against Pentucket. He's money in the bank. He is fast, he has size, he has speed and he's savvy. He has that Campbell knack, just like his brother [Jamie] had."

Campbell is a lot like his brother in a sense that they both are very tough, both very physical, but they are quiet and just got about their jobs. Against Lynnfield, Campbell two sacks and two pressures on the quarterback forcing him to throw an incomplete pass on the run.

"I was slipping all over the place," said Campbell with a laugh. "Thankfully Joe Ranno was there to clear it up for me."

Campbell said he is very impressed with the way the entire defensive unit has played thus far, but he expected that coming in.

"We had almost everyone returning except for [Eric] Banda. We had the best defense in the league last year and I think teams know that we have the best defense in the league this year. We take a lot of pride in stopping teams and keeping them to three-and-out series. I don't think there's been a team that has rushed for over 100 yards on us - we always stuff them."

Campbell's family has had a long history in the game of football. His father Leo, who passed away a few years ago, was a captain in the mid 70's and he was one heck of a ball player. Andy's brother Jamie was certainly the same way - very tough, very good and is now playing at Merrimack College. Andy has really blossomed over the last two years. He's bigger, he's stronger and he's very tough to stop.

Just ask that to the opposing eight ends and quarterbacks he's gone after this season.

ally well on its first offensive possession. However, senior running back Ryan Carlson could not hold onto a pitch from Rocco and Dracut recovered on its own 35 yard line.

The momentum builder did not last long. On third-and -14 from its own 31 yard line, Dracut's quarterback Tousignant was picked off by Wagstaff on the 49 yard line.

Wagstaff was all by himself and sprinted across the field untouched and into the end zone. Nickerson failed the two-point conversion run but the Redmen had the early 6-0 lead.

Tewksbury increased its lead to 12 on its next possession. This time the offense had success and marched 51 yards on 8 carries.

The drives ending will be a memorable one for Rocco as he threw the first touchdown pass of his varsity career to Wagstaff from 5 yards out. The Redmen failed on the two-point conversion and led 12-0.

The Redmen could sense the game could be put out of reach for Dracut and seized the moment. With Tewksbury's defense shutting down Dracut's offense, their was little pressure on the offense.

On its next offensive possession, the Redmen thanked its defense for its strong play by taking some pressure away by increasing its lead. Carlson avenged his earlier fumble by dashing 43 yards on 1st and 10 into Dracut's end zone with 3:52 left in the half. Senior Mark Boudreau added the PAT and the Redmen led 19-0.

Tewksbury's offense did not get to relax long. Two plays later, Nickerson intercepted Dracut's second quarterback, Michael Wojtas inside the Dracut 20.

Tewksbury took over and four plays later, Nickerson scored on a 1-yard run with 1:55 left in the second quarter. Boudreau added the Pat and Tewksbury had a 26-0 lead that they took into the half.

Tewksbury's defense allowed only 90 yards of offense for Dracut and intercepted two passes. They were on top of their game.

Tewksbury's dominance picked up where it ended in the second half. The Redmen opened the half by marching 66 yards in 5:07. Nickerson and Carlson did the dirty work pounding the ball up the field. Carlson finished the drive with a 1-yard run. Boudreau kicked the PAT and Tewksbury led 33-0.

Wagstaff, who already had an interception return for a touchdown and reception for a touchdown, made his presence felt once again on Dracut's next offensive possession. On first and 10 from Dracut's 40 yard line. Wagstaff intercepted Tousignant again and put the ball into the Redmen's offenses hands.

"He [Wagstaff] has been doing it all year for us," said Aylward, when asked about Wagstaff's game. "He's has been doing it for us a couple of years now."

With the game well in hand, Aylward began to play his reserves and they played as well as the starters. Junior Bill Meuse scored in the fourth quarter with a 19 yard run. Boudreau added the PAT and Tewksbury led by the final score of 40-0 with 4:52 remaining.

The victory was extra special for the seniors who played their last home game of their high school careers.

Aylward said, "This is an important game for them [seniors]. They are a great group of kids."

Rocco shines in first start

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Editor

Two games ago, back-up quarterback Mike Rocco was unfairly thrown into the fire in Tewksbury's biggest game of the season. Trailing 15-14 with four minutes left, Rocco came off the bench for the injured Ryan Davoren and tossed an interception and fumbled the ball as Central went on to to win by the same score.

Rocco was unfairly put in that position, rusty off the bench with just three attempted passes in his varsity career to that point.

This past Saturday, Rocco was given his first varsity start and he came through with flying colors. This time he had a week to prepare for Dracut, instead of a few seconds to prepare for Central Catholic. Rocco looked good, looked comfortable and he led his team to victory.

After the Central loss he could have ended his hopes right there. But he didn't. He showed tremendous character, as well as showing signs of what the future holds for the program out of the quarterback's position.

"I hoped for [a chance to play this season]," said Rocco of becoming the starting varsity quarterback. "That was one of the goals I set for the season."

There are not many sophomore quarterbacks starting in high school football. Rocco is different from other sophomores though. He sounds like he is ready for the job.

"I have been working hard on my pass plays and my running plays," said Rocco. "I have been working with our quarterback coach (Rob Aylward) and I have learned from Davoren."

Rocco's numbers (3-7 for 37 yards, 1 TD) by no means were eye popping. Tewskbury head coach Brian Aylward however was impressed by his rookie sophomore QB.

"He did a good job," said Aylward. "He had a pretty much mistake free game. We have a lot of high hopes for him."

Rocco experienced a first against Dracut in the second quarter Saturday. Rocco threw the first touchdown of his varsity career to senior Jay Wagstaff on a 5-yard pass play.

"I saw Wagstaff going out and he was wide open," said Rocco. He made a nice move to get into the end zone. That felt real good."

The 2000 season is almost over but Rocco has a long career ahead of him. He looked comfortable on the field. He played well. And he sounds like an experienced quarterback.

When asked how he felt the game went, Rocco said, "The offensive line was awesome today. They did a real good job blocking and I was able to do a good job passing."

Keep an eye on Rocco. He will be an integral player for Tewksbury in the next couple of years.

Rams lose to Whittier, still in hunt

BY PATRICKHANRAHAN
Sports Correspondent

It's never easy to knock off the champion. Experience often gives one team an intangible advantage that does not show up on paper. When Shawsheen Tech headed to Whittier Tech last Saturday for a Commonwealth Athletic Conference showdown that could help propel the Rams to the Super Bowl, they looked like the better squad - on paper.

Whittier Tech, last year's CAC co-champ, threw out predictions however, regained form and dismissed the upstart Rams, 21-0. With the loss, Shawsheen (7-2, 2-1 CAC) needs to win its last two at home - against Lynn Tech Saturday and Greater Lowell on Thanksgiving - to secure a Super Bowl berth.

"We still control our own destiny," said Shawsheen coach Al Costabile. "Basically, if we win our last two we go. If we lose Saturday, Thanksgiving doesn't matter."

The first step in taking back control of the conference will be to put the Whittier stinker behind them. The Rams gained less that 100 total yards and turned the ball over 5 times.

Whittier, meanwhile, butted heads with the Rams and came out standing. Led by senior running back Al Diaz, the Wildcats methodically drove down the field on all of their scoring drives, eating up clock and, more importantly, demoralizing Shawsheen.

Diaz scored from 6 yards in the first quarter, from 14 in the second and from 2 yards in the fourth. All came after long drives.

"They just ran the ball very well against us," said Costabile. "Diaz rushed for over 200 yards. It's just a situation where we didn't come up with a big play on offense or a sustained drive, and they were able to run the ball."

Diaz has rushed for over 1000 yards in all three of his varsity seasons. He had struggled of late, but a little rest early in the week seemed to revitalize the back. Shawsheen helped his cause with poor tackling.

"I didn't think we blocked well. I didn't think we tackled well," said Costabile. "We did all the things you can't do to win a football game."

There were indications in practice last week that the Rams could be in trouble. The team did not bring the same intensity to their work that they had in racking up an impressive 2000 record.

According to Costabile, the work ethic of the team has turned around 100% this week. The squad is going to need maximum effort. The loss to Whittier drops the Rams from first to third in the CAC, looking up at the two squads they must beat in the next two weeks.

"We need a good practice week and get more focused," said Costabile. "Football is a marathon. It's a long season, and you can't afford to lose your focus for a day let alone a week."

Oftentimes, after a tough loss, a good team bounces back strong. This is the chance for Shawsheen to prove that it deserves to be called a good football team - a chance to show that it is of Super Bowl quality. They've started the process.

Said Costabile: "We looked at the film today and we just wanted to bury the memory and get to work."

FOOTBALL

'Cats Pioneer early and often

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

With just two games left in this year's Wilmington High School football season, the Wildcats are still putting up monstrous points against Cape Ann League opponents, while they hope one of the two teams they decimated earlier will help them out.

Wilmington is still clinging on to hopes that Pentucket Regional will lose either this weekend to North Andover or on Thanksgiving morning to Triton, and either of those teams could easily pluck a loss into the Sachems 'L' column.

Until that happens, Wilmington has to remain focused and they have to take care of business again this Saturday when they travel to Ipswich for their final league game of the season. This past Friday night at Alumni Stadium, Wilmington indeed took care of business with another powerful performance. This time the 'Cats built an 27-6 lead at halftime and went on to put the fans asleep in the 46-6 snoozing win over Lynnfield.

It took less time to defeat Lynnfield on Friday night, than it does for families to say grace on Thanksgiving morning.

"We overmatched them," said coach Bob Almeida, whose team held Lynnfield to -2 rushing yards. "Our defense kept stifling them all night. And when there's not much room to move, there's not much you can do with the ball."

Of Lynnfield's nine offensive possessions, Wilmington held them to 5 three and-out series, one first down, while the 'Cats defense intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble on two other series. The one series they didn't hold them turned into a 96-yard touchdown reception on first down with seconds left in the first half.

Josh Howlett, Joe Ranno, George Godding, John DiPasquale and Andy Campbell all had tackles/sacks for loss of yards for Lynnfield. Jim Fennelly picked off the pass setting up Bob French's second of three touchdowns on the night, while, Andy Petrillo recovered a fumble with a minute left in the game.

Once again the game was over before it started.

"We knew what we had to do," said Campbell, the team's defensive end. "We couldn't take them lightly. Once we got the lead it looked like they just gave up."

Wilmington scored touchdowns on each of their first four possessions. The fifth possession would have been a touchdown but quarterback Josh Hiltz' pass was intercepted at the Lynnfield 4 yard line with 13 seconds left in the half. Mark Jepson, back from his injury, played a limited roll and scored the team's first touchdown on a 2-yard run off tackle. That touchdown was set up a gorgeous 53-yard reception by Dave Trueira from Hiltz.

Wilmington took over on their own 24 less than 90 seconds later. This time the 'Cats offense marched 76 yards on 11 plays as French scored on a 9-yard run making it 14-0 after Jepson's PAT kick was good.

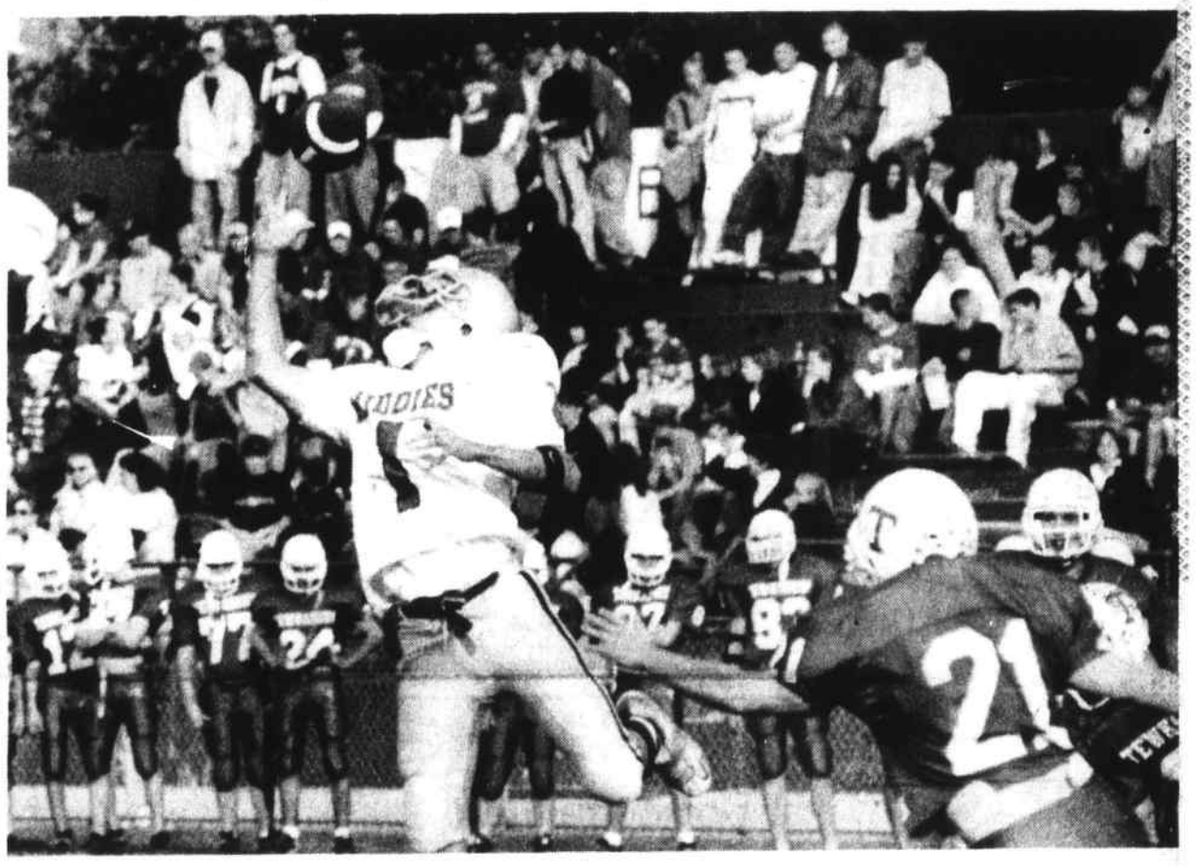

French scored on a 7-yard run just three plays after Fennelly intercepted a pass at the Lynnfield 30 and returned it to the 20 yard line. Once again Lynnfield went three-and-out and once again the 'Cats scored as Josh Hiltz went totally untouched on a quarterback keeper play from the 10.

Lynnfield's Dan Veinot did score the Pioneers lone touchdown of the game on a 96-yard pass completion. He caught the ball at the Lynnfield 48 and put his jets on beating the Wildcat defenders to the end zone.

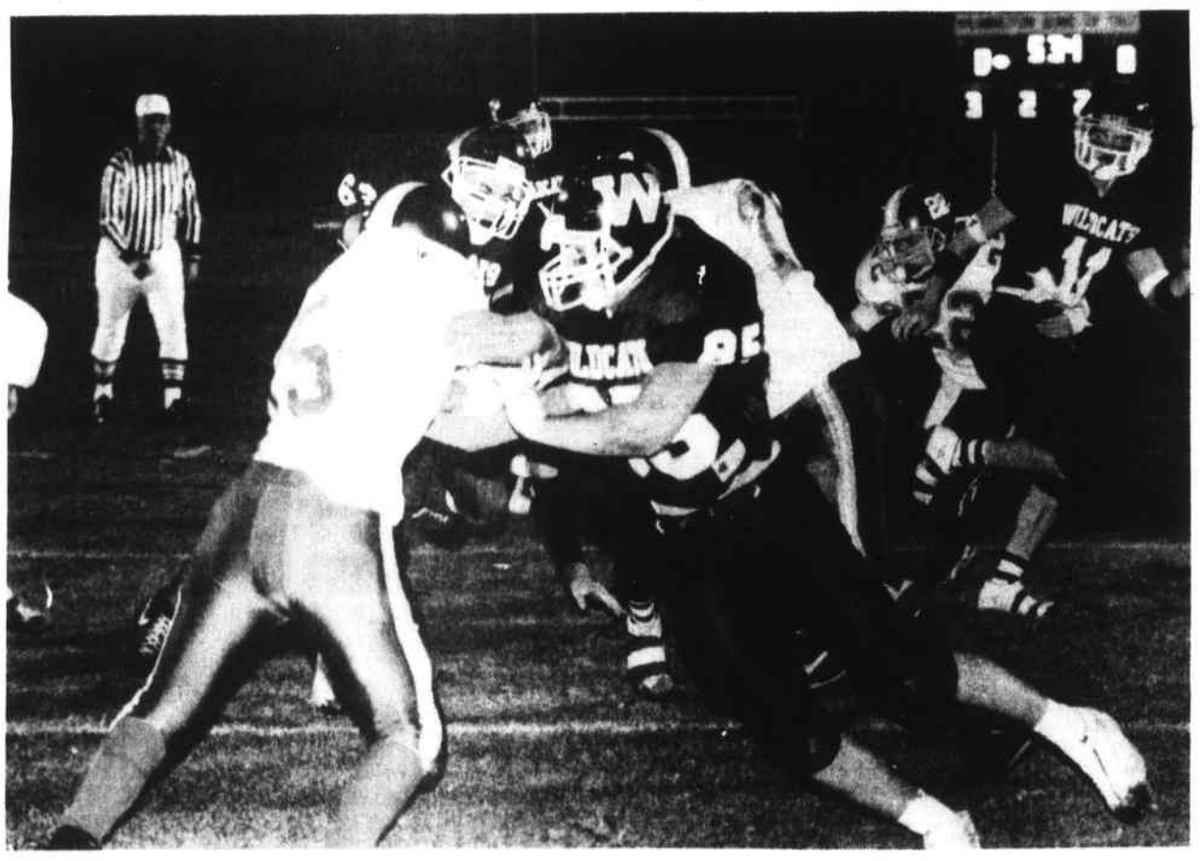

Trueira, French and Mike Herra added the second half touchdowns to close the game out at 46-6 (in last week's edition I was being a total wise guy predicting a 50-6 win, not that far off, huh?).

Wilmington will travel to Ipswich this Saturday before returning home against Tewksbury – which is a game that shouldn't be missed by any local football fan – on Thanksgiving morning.

Redmen back on track

By DAVID FLYNN
Sports Correspondent

The Tewksbury Redmen football team dominated play Saturday against Dracut led by a pair of familiar faces and one new face we will surely hear from again.

Senior Erik Nickerson (122 yards, 16 carries), senior Jay Wagstaff (1 INT TD, 1 Reception TD)and sophomore Mike Rocco (3-7 for 29 yards 1 TD), who was starting his first varsity football game for injured quarterback Ryan Davoran, combined to lead the Redmen to a 40-0 blowout victory over Dracut.

"We got a couple of bounces early on," said Tewksbury head coach Brian Aylward. "[And] the kids played hard."

Dracut started fast to open the game. Starting on its own 19 yard line Dracut marched down the field easily before the Redmen finally woke up.

Dracut could not pound the ball into the end zone and instead opted to attempt a field goal from 24 yards out. Senior Josh Tousignant attempted the field goal but missed.

Tewksbury moved the ball re-

New marquee signals Rebirth of Stoneham Theatre

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Downtown Stoneham is undergoing quite a little revitalization with the completion of the new police station and town common, and according to many people, the scheduled reopening of the Stoneham Theatre and Ensemble.

The project, which is nearing completion, has brought a lot of excitement to many residents and business people throughout the community. In fact, the with many compliments about the bright new marquee that is lighting up the square, The Chamber of Commerce recently congratulated Al Symes, who along with his family, has spearheaded, the project.

Marketing and Communications Director Steven Birchall and Producing Artistic Director Randall Kottwitz joined with the project in June.

"When we came in June," Birchall said, "there was nothing but scaffolding. It was dark and gloomy.

"Now we are almost ready to open."

Crews are working around the clock to get the renovations done in time for the December 1 opening performance of "A Christmas Carol," adapted and directed by Troy Siebels of New York City, with musical direction by Matthew Parent of the American Stage Company of Parsipany, New Jersey.

The December 1 performance is by invitation only and Kottwitz said, "It is a free appreciation performance for all the contractors who have worked (on the restoration)."

The date has an historical significance. On December 1, 1922, the theater opened under its second owner, Joseph P. Kennedy, Sr. According to research done by Kottwitz, the father of President John F. Kennedy was being shut out of the Boston movie market by the Lowes and other chains. He therefore bought theaters in New Hampshire and eventually was able to purchase the Stoneham Theater from its original owner, Joseph Defferarri.

Since the theater was first built in 1917, it has been renovated at least two times. However, the past renovations just covered over what was there and did not try to preserve any of the theaters original beauty.

When Kottwitz came, it was decided to tear every thing down and get back to the bare walls. This decision resulted in the discovery of several panels of rare, Croation marble.

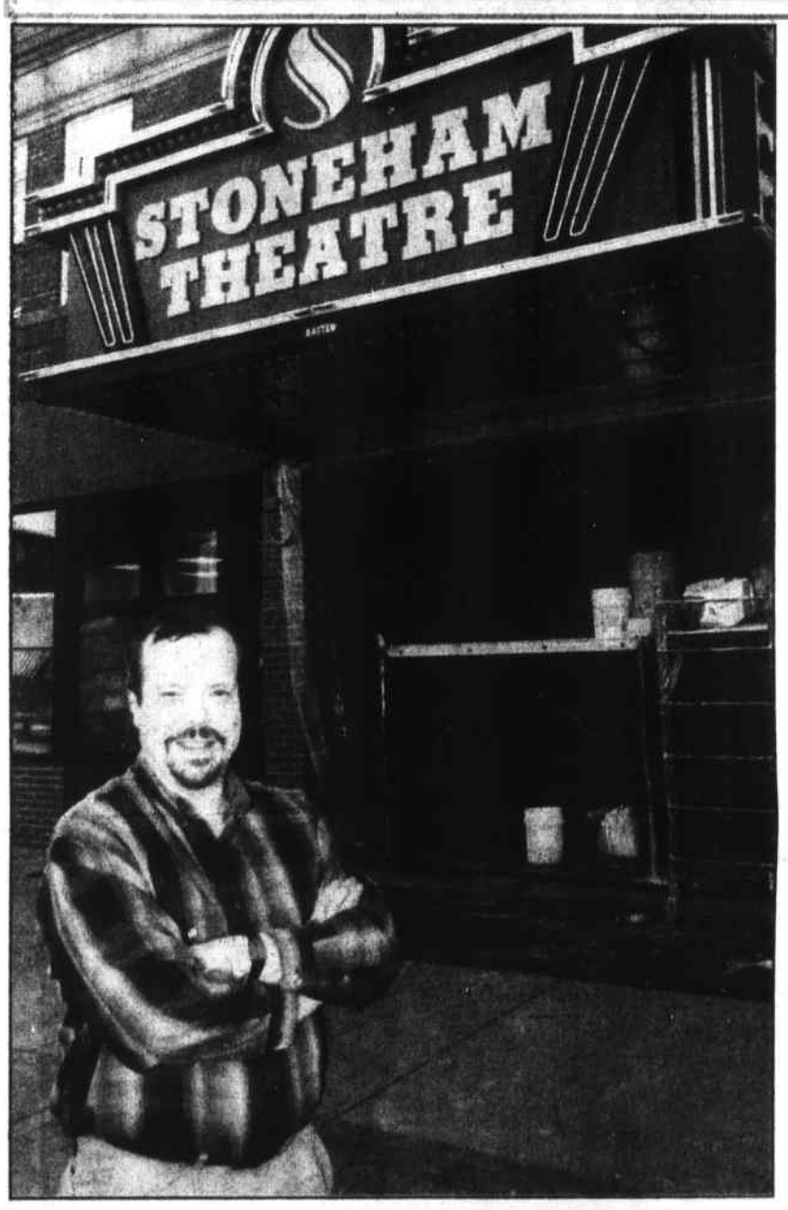

Kottwitz notes that the mines in Croatia are now empty and these panels cannot be replaced. Work has been done to restore them and they will be part of the decoration under the lobby wall of the box office.

Kottwitz notes that the Symes family started the reconstruction work in March.

"All of the aesthetic decisions have been mine," he said.

Although the Symes family business has their own in-house designer, Kottwitz noted that he

Staines and Russell sing folk music

On Saturday, November 11, the Linden Tree is pleased to welcome back veteran and one of the best songwriters and entertainers in folk music today, Bill Staines. Also, for the first time at the Linden Tree, will be California's extremely talented Claudia Russell.

Concerts with Bill Staines take audiences for a glorious journey across the United States and back again with his stories and songs about life on the road and people he's met. His shows present a pleasurable slice of life and his songs have many instantly memorable singalong choruses that have audiences humming all the way home.

Anyone not familiar with the music of Bill Staines is in for a special treat. Staines weaves a magical blend of wit and gentle humor into his performances, with the timing of the best stand-up comic. Staines is one of the most admired and imitated writers on the folk music circuit. A significant number of his songs have been recorded by other artists including Glen Yarborough, Nanci Griffith, and Priscilla Herdman.

Opening the evening show at 8 pm, is Claudia Russell, a long time performer on the West Coast who is now becoming discovered by concert goers on the East Coast. At the prestigious New Folk competition at the Kerrville Folk Festival in Texas, she was center stage when she sang two original songs chosen as finalists on Memorial Day.

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse is located in the social hall of the Unitarian-Universalist Church, 326 Main Street, Wakefield. Tickets for the Linden Tree Coffeehouse, are $12, available at the door beginning at 7:30. Homemade refreshments are sold during intermission. The social hall is smoke-free and handicapped accessible. For information: 781-246-4946, and on the net: www.wakefield.org/linden.

About The Towns by Phyllis Nissen

Momentous news, momentary spotlight

Proud moment in Woburn

"Nearly 30 years after the 'Woburn Odor' first made its noxious presence in East Woburn and points beyond, the Industri-Plex site is finally being honored for a positive achievement," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Officials who worked to remediate what was once ranked the fifth-worst contaminated site in the country traveled to the Brownfields 2000 Conference in Atlantic City, N.J. to collect the Phoenix Award for the New England region.

"Founded in 1997, the Phoenix Awards recognize outstanding land recycling achievements. The Industri-Plex Superfund project is also one of 11 finalists for the national Brownfields Award. Among the other sites in the running is Enron Field, the new home stadium of the Houston Astros that was built on a contaminated railroad bed.

"'The award reflects the work and patience of many, many individuals, not the least of whom are the people of Woburn,' said Cindy Brooks, President of Resources for Responsible Site Management, the custodial trust that oversaw the remediation of the Industri-Plex. 'It took us a long, long time to get to this point.'

"Brooks traveled to Atlantic City for the three-day conference along with Marc Weinrich from the custodial trust, Mindy Lubber, regional administrator of the EPA, Christopher Gordon of MassPort, Anna Mayor, the Industri-Plex site fund manager, Luisa Paiewonsky of Mass. Highway and Brian Clancy of National Development of New England, the firm that is marketing what is now known as the Metro North Corporate Center.... Mayor Robert Dever was pleased the site is being viewed in a positive light and not a negative one, as had been the case for decades.

"'It's really become the national model for Superfund sites and how the process should work,' said Dever. 'What the site has become today is a testament to the effort a lot of people put in....'"

Senior moment in Lynnfield

"The Council on Aging appointed a new Senior Center Director," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"Linda Naccara, of Beverly, was named to the position. The Selectmen signed off on her health slip at their meeting.

"Naccara moved to Beverly from Fairfax County, Virginia where she ran the Hollin Hall Senior Center from June, 1999 through June, 2000. She started many new programs which were extremely successful according to information the Council received.

"Prior to that, from December, 1996 through June, 1999 she was the Assistant Director of the Senior Center in Little River Glen in Fairfax.

"Naccara was set to begin her position September 1."

Festive moment in North Reading

"The Apple Festival, orchestrated by the North Reading Historical and Antiquarian Society, was enjoyed by young and old alike," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Hundreds of people attended the sixth annual event on the grounds of the Rev. Daniel Putnam House and upper town common. Event proceeds are used by the Society to aid in the preservation of the town's historic buildings.

"Children had fun riding ponies, exploring their creativity at the crafts table, munching on candy apples and being 'locked up' in the pretend jail cell and Puritan-inspired stocks.

"The adults found pleasure in perusing the wide range of crafts and wares displayed by over a dozen artisans and community groups, while everyone enjoyed apple pie a la mode and self-guided tours of the historic barn, school house, shoe shop and Putnam House.

"For the third consecutive year, the blue ribbon for the best apple pie was awarded to Denise Miedico. The blind taste test was conducted by a panel of three judges, chef Lou Greenstein, Millie Cameron and Selectman Steve O'Leary. Placing second was Teresa Penney while Tracy Waterhouse won third place.

"Over 500 raffle chances were sold to supporters hoping to win one of 14 pieces of donated art. The winners were: Annette Geraigery: (Jim Norris duck decoy), Betty Rideous: (Dave Alexander watercolor), Jan Berry: (Nancy Bailey Miller signed poetry book), Stimpson family: (Nancy Goddard watercolor), Shirley Woolecott: (Nancy Stewart spoon art), Laura Feltch: (Millie Sullivan folk art), Harold Sullivan: (Cheryl Warner Foley photograph), Ellen Mague: (Jim Atkins mixed media).

"As well as Brandon Potvin: (Gloria Mastro lighthouse slate), Georgette Maltiniez: (Dick Emrich zinc etching), Fran Cheney: (Louise Anderson watercolor), Norm Baxter: (Nelda Rouillard watercolor), Grant family: (whale photograph by Tracey Guptill and Advanced Photo) and Joe Gallagher (framed ship lithograph donated by Paul O'Leary/Art Express)."

ANTHONY MANCONI

Folks, I find that parents who have wonderful children generally are wonderful parents.

Dennis Tully's father asked Dennis why were you kept after school? "I didn't know where the Azores are," Dennis replied. "O'kay," Mr. Tully said, "but next time remember where you put things."

Blackie Vega's credit rating was upgraded to, Triple Z. It remains, watch out, even when Blackie wants to pay cash.

Teacher Marie Cole asked Joe Ravida, "what was Louis IVth chiefly responsible for?" "I think it was for Louis the fifteenth" Joe Ravida replied.

Folks, behind every successful man there's a proud wife and a surprised mother-in-law.

I love those humorous bumper stickers, like, "I owe, I owe, so off to work I go."

"Watch my rear end, not hers, and, "Please slow down-Heaven can wait."

The insurance adjuster asked Sonny Pearlman, "when did you first notice that your roof was leaking?" " At dinner," Sonny replied, "when it took me an hour to finish my soup."

The police radio blared out, "cars four and five, investigate a call that numerous, "Topless" bathers are in the vicinity of Kelly's on the beach." "Well folks, police cars in a 20 mile radius responded and, indeed there were hundreds of, topless bathers-'MEN'!"

Some rules border on the ridiculous like, foreman to a bricklayer, "Hey! what do you think you're doing?' "I'm sharpening my pencil." "Well the foreman shouted, "don't let anyone see you doing it-that's a carpenter's job!"

A man rang my doorbell and asked me, "would you like to make a contribution to the, Old Ladies Home?" "Sure," I replied, "take my mother-in-law."

I was told that the heads of the sardines are cut off so they wont bite each other in the can.

A dentist's epitaph, "I am filling my last cavity."

I told a beautiful young lady, "I'm sorry but there's a member of my family who doesn't want me to marry you." "Oh, who is it" she asked. I smiled and said, "My wife Kathy."

When Jimmy Serra worked in a bakery I asked him, "How much is your 'Pound Cake'?" Jimmy replied, "16 ounces."

Richie Gillis was shouting at Fenway Park, twenty thousand people; and that darn, pigeon had to 'Spot' Me!"

I asked, Brian McCarthy, "have you got an opening for a Genius?" "Yes," he said, "and don't slam the door on the way OUT!"

FLEA ALLERGY DERMATITIS (FAD)

Flea Allergy Dermatitis (FAD) is a common skin disease in dogs and other animals exposed to fleas. When flea saliva is secreted into an animal's skin, the animal is exposed to histamine-like substances, enzymes and other proteins that may cause an allergic reaction. The biggest symptom of FAD is itching, most often on the dog's rear half. You may also see crusted pimples (small, firm elevations of the skin) on the lower back, tail, thighs and perineum (area between the thighs). A veterinarian can diagnose FAD based on the dog's history, symptoms, and the presence of fleas or "flea dirt" (fecal pellets containing blood). Skin testing may be performed to confirm an allergic response to flea saliva.

Treating FAD and flea infestation involves stringent flea control. The internal and external environment, the affected dog, and other dogs or cats that are in contact with the affected dog should be treated simultaneously for fleas.

Flea allergy dermatitis is common in our area during the warmer months. Dogs and cats can be severely allergic to the bite of a flea, so controlling the flea population early is important. There are many new products for flea control available now. For information and service, see us at:

Ladies are you sleeping like a baby boomer?

The majority of baby boomer women in their 40s and 50s have trouble sleeping, according to the 7 million women who shop As We Change, the first and largest national mail order catalog and Web site (aswechange.com) for the changing needs of women over 40.

'A primary reason for women over 40 losing sleep at night is fluctuating hormone levels," says Nancy Casey, one of the catalog's three cofounders. During the two to 10 years leading up to menopause, about 85 percent of women experience mild to severe symptoms. One of the most common symptoms is hot flashes, or night sweats, which cause sleep disturbances."

The catalog and Web site offer free information on the solutions to the common problems faced by women over 40. For better sleep and relaxation, the experts at As We Change recommend a variety of solutions:

•Avoid large meals, caffeine or alcohol within two to three hours of bedtime.

• Make sure your sheets are soft and absorbent, your pillow is supportive and your room is the right temperature.

• Minimize disturbing sounds with a "white noise machine" and block light with a sleep mask to help your body produce more sleep-inducing melatonin.

• Stop your mind from keeping you awake by taking a late afternoon worry break (five to 10 minutes of deep breathing) and an early evening relaxation session (tighten, then relax each muscle in your body).

• Instead of sleeping pills, which can become habit-forming and leave you feeling groggy in the morning, try a natural herbal relaxant.

"Our catalog and Web site are like an informed girlfriend that you can turn to for advice," adds Casey.

By calling 1-800-203-5585 to obtain a catalog or visiting the Web site at aswechange.com, women of all ages can learn about the latest available products to reduce stress, boost energy and manage sleep disturbances.

Forum to focus on long term care options

The United States faces major challenges in financing long-term care (LTC) for the elderly. Increased life expectancy and the aging of the baby boom generation will create substantial demands on the LTC financing and delivery system in the nation, including Massachusetts. The expansion of private long-term care insurance has been held out as a new source of financing for long-term care services.

The forum, entitled Paying for Long-Term Care: Is Private Insurance an Answer?, to be held on November 30, will discuss the issues related to increasing the long-term care insurance market, including the creation of public incentives for the purchase of individual and employer-sponsored policies. It will also address initiatives and strategies that attempt to deal with the problem at the federal and state levels.

The forum, sponsored by University of Massachusetts Boston's Gerontology Institute and the Massachusetts Legislative Caucus on Older Citizen's Concerns, will be held a the Sate House's Gardner Auditorium from 9:30 am to 12:30 pm. The public is invited; there is no charge, but advanced registration is required by Friday, November 24.

Speakers at the forum include Jane Tilly, Senior Research Associate, Urban Institute, Washington DC; Katy Cushman, President, Senior Insurance Solutions; and State Representative Nancy Flavin, Co-Chair of the Joint Committee on Insurance. A question and answer session is planned after these presentations. For more information and a registration form please call 617-287-7361. Discuss your views about death, dying while healthy

Last year the National Hospice Foundation found that Americans are more likely to talk to their children about safe sex and drugs than to talk to their terminally ill parents about end-of-life preferences and options.

With approximately 2.4 million Americans dying each year and the number growing it is vital that thoughtful, serious, personal conversations take place about the kinds of experiences Americans would want for themselves or their loved ones as the inevitable end of life draws near. Often such conversations are avoided out of an understandable desire to spare each other's feelings. They need not be.

Although most Americans say they want to die at home surrounded by their loved ones, the truth is that three-fourths of them die in institutions surrounded by strangers. It does not have to be this way. The key to change is communication.

The time to discuss your views about end-of-life care and to learn about available end-of-life care options is before a life-threatening illness occurs or a crisis hits. This greatly reduces the stress of making these end-of-life decisions under duress. By preparing in advance, you can avoid the uncertainty and anxiety associated with not knowing what your loved ones want. Instead, you can make an educated decision that includes the advice and input of loved ones.

There does exist an end-of-life option that provides dying with their families with comfort, compassion, and dignity at the end of life. This option is hospice care. During the month of November, National Hospice Month is being commemorated across the country. Professionals in the hospice field will reach out to communities to educate their fellow citizens of the value of hospice services.

Kiss Your Fat Goodbye

Carbohydrates Good or Bad? The debate continues! Ten years ago you were finally convinced that carbohydrates were the good guys. You ate bread without guilt, loaded up on pasta and were relieved the potatoes had the go-ahead. Then, BOOM! Suddenly protein is back in and all those potassium-rich potatoes have to go, along with the cancer-fighting carrots.

Even the juicy melons and luscious strawberries are taboo. What's happening? Is it really true that you're supposed to eat meats, butter, ice cream and bacon to get healthy?

Let's get real. I mean, "duh!" have you ever heard of anyone getting heart disease from broccolli, carrots, cucumbers, or tomatoes? Are brown rice, lentils, oats, barley, and corn really potentially dangerous to your health? Hell No! Don't fall into the trap of bunching all the carbohydrates together. Just get rid of the simple ones; The double packaged, triple-processed refined products chock full of partially-hydrogenated oils. (That's practically everything we eat out of a box.

For the past 15 years Lorette, a resident of Bend, Oregon, has been counseling, teaching and writing about health and fitness.

Her book is an expression of her desire to spread the news about living a healthy lifestyle, feeling good and loving yourself. "The issue here is not about whether you can fit into a size eight dress," she says, "it's about practicing a healthy lifestyle, which includes loving yourself. Susan Schlosberg, author of Fitness for Dummies, writes, "Finally! No empty promises! A book that offers sound, sane solutions."

Venuti and Herman at Cornerstone Coffeehouse

The Cornerstone Coffeehouse (located in the Second Congregational Church of Winchester, 485 Washington Street) presents the sounds of singer/songwriter Stephen Venuti on Saturday, November 18th.

Opening will be singer-songwriter Marc Herman. Stephen Venuti will also be joined by friends Susan Levine and Bill Morris. Doors open at 7:30 pm, and the show starts at 8.

Stephen Venuti is a Boston area singer-songwriter, and has performed at clubs, coffeehouses, and radio stations across the state. His original songs have a style reflecting the musical influences of The Beatles, John Prine, Tom Waits, Bob Dylan and Elvis Costello. With lyrics described as a blend of "humor and poignancy" and voice described as having a compelling vitality", Stephen sings and plays acoustic guitar. He has recently released Trouble, his debut CD.

Marc Herman emerges from the Cambridge folk scene with a playful spirit and a knockout collection of original songs. He explores a world of musical genres with the medium of acoustic guitar and voice. His rock solid rhythms, memorable melodies, and stunningly fresh lyrics are causing quite a stir throughout listening rooms, coffeehouses and acoustic venues of New England and beyond.

Tickets are $12 for adults $9 for students. They are available in advance through MajesTix by calling 617-824-8000 (cash, check or credit card; no added fees; multiple-ticket discounts also available), or at the door (cash or check only). Coffee, tea, and a variety of desserts are available.

New book From S-6

The book begins with a chapter about why diets are fairy tales, with unhappy endings. Then continues on about how metabolism, exercise and nutrition all work together to produce positive results.

Chapter five introduces a unique system for using calories as a powerful weapon against fat.

Kiss Your Fat Good-Bye (Aroha Press $12.95) is currently available at your favorite bookstore.

School Notes
by Phyllis Nissen

Culture, curriculum, and concerns

Diversity in Tewksbury

"Cultural diversity has just landed on a small town in Massachusetts," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"Tewksbury Memorial High School has welcomed three new students from across the world. They are Dunja Ilic, from Montenegro; Amir Tabrizi, from Iran; and Paulo Caldoncelli, from Brazil.

"The T.M.H.S. students have welcomed these three young adults and have made these newcomers feel as though they are in their native countries.

"Ilic is a senior who has come to spend a year in the United States. All throughout her life, she has taken English in school, and she speaks the language with the skill of someone who has been in this country for months. She recently has been involved in the girls' field hockey team with Ellen Frank, who has been a great friend to her in this new country. Ilic has been trying hard in her classes, which include some of the hardest courses offered at T.M.H.S., such as Advanced Placement Calculus and Biology.

"Says Ilic, 'It's hard, but I want to do good, so that I can go to a good university some day.'

"Tabrizi is also a senior. He has come to America to live with his father, who has been in Tewksbury for about three years now.

"'I used to live in Wakefield for about five or six years,' says Tabrizi. 'Then my family went back to Iran. We've come back, and hopefully we will stay here for six or seven years.'

"Tabrizi plans on wrestling for T.M.H.S. and showing his classmates how he won the all-state championship back in Iran.

"When you walk down the halls of T.M.H.S., you can see a man who stands head-and-shoulders above the rest. You have just met Paulo Caldoncelli, a six-foot-seven-inch Brazilian who wishes to play high school basketball as a junior.

"'I have a lot of friends and family in Brazil,' says Caldoncelli, who has come to Tewksbury to live with his family and to go to school. 'I miss (Brazil) a lot. It is beautiful, but everyone has been friendly to me here and I look forward to making new friends.'

"The Tewksbury Memorial High School has welcomed these three students and hopes to continue to let student exchanges take place between T.M.H.S. and other schools around the world.

"If you and your family would like to host a student from another country, you can call the guidance department at the high school to learn more about the foreign exchange program."

Development in North Reading

"This year brings with it a continuation of review of the district curriculum," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"Working with the state Curriculum Frameworks and aligning the district curriculum is an on-going priority. Committee work will focus on the math curriculum referencing the recently released Frameworks and continuing the work begun last year identifying the grade level learning objectives. In addition, examination of the English/Language Arts curriculum and suggested revisions in the Curriculum Framework will begin. There will also be program reviews in the other disciplines of Science/

Pets & People

FELINE INFECTIOUS PERITONITIS (FIP)

Feline infectious peritonitis (FIP) develops from the coronavirus that invades and grows in a cat's white blood cells. Infected cells produce severe inflammation in nearby tissues, causing the disease. Most cats become infected by inhaling or ingesting the virus via direct contact with an infected cat or contaminated surface. After initial exposure to the FIP virus, most cats recover completely while some develop the lethal disease.

Effusive (wet) FIP causes fluid to accumulate in the cat's abdomen and/or chest, making breathing difficult. Non-effusive (dry) FIP involves less fluid accumulation and develops more slowly. The cat commonly suffers weight loss, depression, fever and anemia. Other symptoms can include increased thirst, jaundice, vomiting, diarrhea, paralysis, seizures or blindness

FIP can be difficult to diagnose because symptoms mimic those of several other illnesses.

If you think it is possible for your cat to become exposed to FIP, ask our veterinarian about the nasal vaccine that is available. We provide complete service at:

Stoneham Theatre

has been giving the direction of what has been needed from the location of lights to the seating arrangement.

"It is my dream come true," Kottwitz said. "I am getting to make this theater like the one in my dreams as a teenager."

Kottwitz is originally from Nebraska and studied design at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Michigan. During those years he was afforded the opportunity to design over 50 stage productions.

However, after graduating from college he found himself doing public relations work. Because of his theater background Kottwitz would tell people "public relations is a performing art."

His business took him to such places as New York and London.

"I saw hundreds of professional productions over those years," Kottwitz said.

Shortly after his mother died, Kottwitz came to the realization that he should resume his dream and he walked away from his successful business.

"I have learned a lot about practical business management that can be applied to the theater," Kottwitz said.

After making the decision to go back into theater he started with the American Stage Festival in Milford and Nashua, New Hampshire.

The original position was director of development. However, Kottwitz soon found himself involved in the artistic end of the business as well.

This eventually led to a trip to California where he oversaw all aspects of producing the shows at the Mendocino Shakespeare Festival. Productions at the festival included "As You Like It," and "Measure for Measure," by William Shakespeare.

However, productions such as Marie Jones' "Stones in His Pocket," and Caryl Churchill's contemporary farce, "Cloud Nine," were also produced.

"Our choice of productions in Mendocino should serve as a good example of the kind of programming I'm planning for Stoneham," Kottwitz has stated.

The Stoneham Theatre has always provided the town with a variety of entertainment. In the early years the programs ran the gamut from movies to vaudeville to educational and religious talks.

Although movies are not a planned part of the theater in the immediate future, Kottwitz has designed the control booth to perhaps run digital movies when that technology is better developed for commercial purposes.

The mission statement of the the Theatre and Ensemble states: "The Stoneham Theatre provides a facility to nurture the performing arts for the cultural enhancement and education of the community and the region.

The statement continues, in part: (The Theatre and Ensemble will) Take risks and ask important questions in order to expand our understanding of each other and the human experience."

Although A Christmas Carol is mostly entertainment, it does touch on the themes of man's inhumanity to man. However, the next production, "Twilight of the Golds," by Jonathan Tolins will deal with many questions of the acceptance of sexuality and the use of gene technology to predict the outcome of a birth.

This will be followed by William Nicholson's "Shadowlands" which deals with a sensitive period in the life of the British author C.S. Lewis and his romance with American author Joy Davidman.

Serious theater is not the only activity on the playbill, however. Kottwitz is planning a full season of music ranging from jazz and swing to classical and folk presentations.

Wakefield's Peter Stickel and John Bumstead of the New England String Ensemble will be helping with booking of the classical and swing performances.

According to Kottwitz, the connection between the theater and Symes Associates will not end when the work is completed. Wayland Symes is the associate artistic director and is in charge of the Out of the Box Players.

This has been described as a group of experimental theater people and will also be used to test scripts and provide readings. A children's theater group is being planned for a spring start.

The Ensemble itself will be made up of Actors Equity performers.

To ensure the technical integrity of the theater, Kottwitz has watched over the construction while wearing many different hats. He notes that the theater has been rewired with many miles of wiring.

Wearing his hat as a sound and light designer, Kottwitz has taken steps to insure that the sound and lights are on separate circuits so that there will be no static produced in the sound system.

According to Kottwitz, the fact that Stoneham has been so cooperative with the renovations will reap large rewards for the Town. He plans on being able to fill the 350 seats in the theater to the tune of about 150,000 people per year.

Kottwitz estimates that for every dollar spent by the community on the theater, another $7 will be spent at area businesses.

"Just by being here," Kottwitz said, "We will bring people to Stoneham who have never been here."

Those people will easily be able to find the theater by following the lights of the new arts deco style "Broadway marquee." Any person who has been in the old theater will immediately be struck by the many differences they will see once they enter the lobby.

Even the theater seats have been refurbished and are very comfortable. However, the best suggestion is to call (781) 279-2200 and make reservations for A Christmas Carol as soon as possible.

On your mortgage

Three ways to save

One out of every two homeowners prefers to pay off their mortgage in order to minimize the interest they pay rather than take advantage of low interest rates and tax deductions, according to a Fannie Mae National Housing Survey. In fact, today's homeowners are finding ways to reduce their monthly payments and build equity without the cost and effort of a refinance.

"Homeowners typically look at their monthly house payment as an investment," said Cathy Pallin, Area Manager for the Mass area of Wells Fargo Home Mortgage Inc., a lending originator and servicer of home mortgages. "What homeowners often overlook are the ways to save on the total cost of that investment."

Today's homeowners have several financing options to choose from, according to Pallin. Many lending institutions, offer various payment plans, allowing homeowners to make extra payments to reduce the overall interest due on their loan.

One such option is an automatic mortgage payment program. Through this program, the homeowners mortgage payments are automatically deducted from a checking or savings account each month. These programs save homeowners the time and cost of mailing a payment each month and are typically offered free of charge from most lenders.

Some homeowners may also be eligible to cancel their Private Mortgage Insurance (PMI), which lenders often require for loans with down-payments smaller than 20 percent. Homeowners may be eligible to cancel PMI once they have paid 20 percent of the principal on their loan.

New legislation applicable to loans originated after July 1999 requires lender to automatically cancel PMI after 22 percent equity is reached, but also allows homeowners the right to request cancellation at 20 percent equity. Typically homeowners pay $20 to $100 a month for PMI. For information on how to cancel your PMI, call your mortgage lender.

Finally, homeowners can opt for a bi-monthly payment program that allows them to make mortgage payments twice a month. Homeowners make a total of 26 half-payments, which amounts to 13 full payments each year. Homeowners make their payments earlier, and the extra payment is applied directly to the mortgage principal balance. Bi-monthly payments reduce the principal balance and interest costs, as well as subtract an average of seven years off a loan.

Protect your home from power surge damages

If lightning strikes an unprotected home, the power surge is likely to be carried throughout the electrical wiring, frying delicate circuits in computers, stereo systems, telephones, and other electronic gear, destroying appliances, and possibly harming anyone who happens to be touching one of these otherwise benign devices. But electrical surges occur more frequently than most homeowners know and not only as a result of a lightning strike.

Most surges, in fact are caused by routine electrical switching operations at local utilities or nearby industrial facilities. Most homes typically experience up to 2,000 surges a year an average of six per day.

A surge or a transient overvoltage abnormality, as an engineer would describe it can overwhelm ordinary defenses like fuses or circuit breakers. Every one needs more protection from surges, especially if it's in an area where thunderstorms frequently occur. Fortunately, devices are available to safeguard not only your incoming electrical line, but also other vulnerable entry points such as telephones lines and television cable or antenna wiring.

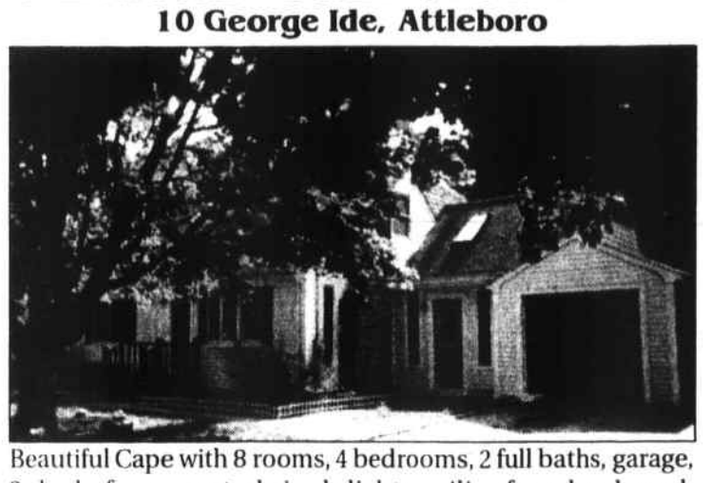

A three-tiered strategy is recommended. The first line of defense includes lighting and transient high-voltage spike protection devices, known as "transient voltage surge suppressors." They are commonly used in agricultural, commercial and industrial buildings, and inexpensive versions are available for homes, as well. Installed at the electrical meter or service panel, these devices react automatically to suppress any incoming voltage surge, reducing the power to a lower voltage level by diverting part of it to ground. They protect the entire electrical system "downstream" of the installation point. Because very powerful surges, especially lightning, can strike any incoming wiring, experts suggest buying a multiple-connection unit that simultaneously protects telephone, coaxial cable, and antenna wiring for televisions, stereos and home computers.

The second level of defense includes point-of-use surge protectors, which include the familiar plug-strips with built in circuit breakers. Although these devices are not strong enough to resist a mega-voltage spike, they provide some backup protection for any excess power that manages to get past the main surge arrester. Make sure all the surge suppressors in your home are labeled to indicate that they meet Underwriters Laboratories (UL) 1449 standard, Edition 2.

Electrician's caution, however, that these devices are of little value if a home's grounding system is not equal to the task. Many homes both newer and older, are insufficiently grounded.

Because surge protectors use this path to direct excess energy safely away from the home and its occupants, it's important to have a professional check your home's grounding system before installing a surge arrester. If necessary, adding "supplemental grounding electrodes" such as copper rods would be a simple, cost-effective solution.

School Notes From S-7

Technology, History/Social Science, Foreign Language, The Arts, Health/Physical Education, and School-to-Career.

"The district will continue work on producing curriculum guides that identify standards, assessment, and instructional strategies that can be expanded to use an electronic format. The guides will enable staff to build and refine a district curriculum that identifies high standards and supports all students through a variety of instructional strategies to reach those standards.

"Professional development programs this year will focus on supporting teachers and administrators in working with content standards in the classroom. Workshops are scheduled throughout the year addressing curriculum design for purposeful learning. In addition, teachers at the elementary level will have the opportunity to participate in Project READ training supporting the instruction of reading. There will also be training for all staff in writing across the curriculum incorporating methods to teach and assess student writing.

"Increased opportunities for North Reading students to utilize technology will be evident this year. In addition to increasing computers, there are several innovative projects underway. Project MEET (Massachusetts Empowering Educators in Technology) begins its second year at the Batchelder School under the direction of the integrated technology teacher, Ed Biggs. The MEET team participated in training this summer and is prepared to mentor other teachers in technology skills.

"Other projects include extension of the network wiring and acquisition of hardware at the high school. This has meant the addition of a computer lab with upgraded courses in the area of computer programming. There have also been computers added to the classrooms and labs at the other schools. Notification on awards of state technology grants this fall may enable additional projects and the purchase of even more hardware.

"In addition, a pilot program is in place to support beginning teachers in the district...."

Respect in Winchester

"The School Committee has heard summary reports from both the high school and middle school improvement councils and issues concerning student respect shared center stage with academic concerns," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Co-Chair Carol Burdick briefly discussed a letter the council recently sent to town officials regarding ongoing budget constraints at McCall. The strongly worded letter called it an 'embarrassment' that the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Inc. put the middle school on warning status two years ago. Town Meeting has already set the budget, but the council wants financial issues to stay at the forefront of public discussion.

"'We're striving to inform parents of financial constraints faced by the schools,' Burdick says.

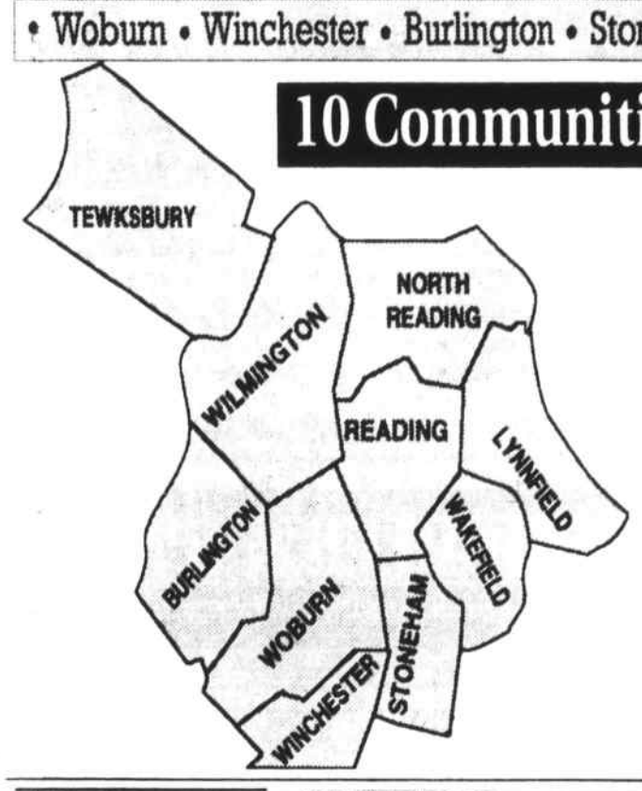

"Burdick also outlined the middle school councils priorities for the upcoming year as follows: To study respect in the school climate, to advocate for a full and responsible budget for McCall's educational needs and to develop a variety of extracurricular activities.

"Discussion on these themes took place against a backdrop of concern about the youth risk behavior survey results for both middle and high school students. Throughout the evening, some School Committee members also referenced what many consider rude student behavior at the high school graduation last spring...."

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

As the President of the Wilmington Rotary Club, I welcome opportunity to share with you some of the Wilmington Rotary Club story.

The Rotary Club of Wilmington was established in 1944. In its fifty-six year history, the club has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for a variety of community and international service projects. The Rotary Club of Wilmington meets weekly at noon on Wednesdays at Rocco's. If you are interested in making a difference, we welcome you to contact any Rotarian for more information.

Service

On the local level, we are a diversified group of woman and men who come together and share a vision of making Wilmington and the World a better place. No Rotarian joins for self-interest. Your Wilmington Rotarians very quietly but effectively are involved in many community events and activities. Wilmington is unique and fortunate to have so many caring individuals who lead us down the many avenues we travel.

Annual Rotary Auction - Chairman John Doherty - This annual November event is our biggest fund-raiser. Rotarians are canvassing the town for auction items. Herb Peterson along with Suzi Cushing and aAngela Keane have been all over New England looking for some very special items Dr. Jim Ficociello, Attorney Jim Peterson, and Chairman John Doherty were last seen at 5:00 am in line at toy stores for some very special auction items. On Auction night, Joyce Brisbois' staff headed by Chris Castronovo will not only take your cash, but they handle all major credit cards. They look forward to your business. If you want to help, it's not too late, call our Auction secretary Terri LaBella, or drop off your donation to John at Wilmington Insurance, it will be greatly appreciated.

$10,000 Dollar raffle- Chairman "Uncle Bill" Doyle- This popular $100 a ticket raffle is the focal point of our annual auction. The winning ticket is drawn as the Grand Finale of the auction. If you are looking for the winning ticket, you might want to call Fred Cain Sr. My historian "Uncle Bill" informs me Fred has sold over one thousand, two hundred and seventy-five tickets (1275) the past 17 years. WOW !

Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust Chairman Attorney Bob Peterson - This trust, a brain child of Peter DeGennaro and Charlie Doucette, set up by our Treasurer CPA Joyce Brisbois, has over the past fourteen years, contributed over $215,000.00 to local student scholarships. The Wilmington Rotary Club is the largest single donor of scholarship funds in Wilmington, and the Rotary Auction enables us to do it.

Holiday/ Christmas Drive - Chairperson Donna Wayman - The Wilmington Rotary Club along with the Wilmington Fire Department and the Wilmington Community Fund collect toys, clothing and food for disbursement to local residents in need at the holiday season. This event is one that is close to the hearts of our members, as its satisfaction is instantaneous. Nothing can give you the spirit of love and joy during the holidays as does helping someone else in need. Want to help? Call Donna at Casalot Real Estate. She can always use it!

Sunshine Club - Chaired by Donna Wayman and assisted by Dave Gagnon and Bob Peterson, not only try to brighten the day for our community, but also for our Membership.

Rotary Park/Town Common - Chairman Ed Whitney - assisted by "Uncle Bill" Doyle. Through their leadership the Rotary club has: built a community message board at Rotary Park, donated benches and gas lights on the common as well as flowers and shrubs for Rotary Park. Future plans? Rotary will be putting a fountain in the Rotary pond. Next time you drive by Rotary park and you see Ed Whitney and sons trucks and equipment there, know that it is Wilmington Rotary in action, stop and say "Hi" to Ed and don't be afraid to grab a shovel.

Annual Blood Drive - Chairman Ray Fitch- Each year Ray along with Bernie Wagstaff, Ray McNamara and Dr. John Marshall, lead our Rotary family to the Health Center for our annual Blood Drive. This event is crucial to the Red Cross and people in need. If we can't get your money, we definitely want your blood. Our High School Rotary Interact Club led by President Richie Palizzola with Rotarian adviser Jim Kohr will be setting up appointments in the Spring. If you want to get on our list, call Jim at First Eastern Mortgage.

Thanksgiving Pancake Breakfast - Chairman Ed Whitney (really Mary Whitney) along with head chef Jack Cushing, set up shop in the High School Kitchen at 7:30 am on Thanksgiving Morning They prepare a pancake breakfast that is enjoyed by the football team and cheerleaders. When the game is at home this event is open to the public. We are home this year so come on down 7:00 am to 9:00 am. It's a great way to start your Thanksgiving Holiday. Dave Milot is in charge of our placemat advertising. Why not put your name on the mat?

Fourth of July - Chairman Jim Peterson- our President elect. Fun on the Fourth is always a great event. Wilmington Rotary Texas Barbeque is the traditional kick off dinner. The famous Chef Marv Weiner buys the food, cooks the food, makes the donuts and brings the coffee (Dunkin Donuts, of course). Assistant Chefs: Jim Ficociello, Steve Peterson (defending Bocci champ, thank you Jackie), Bill Doyle, Jim Kohr (with his Interact crew) Doc Marshall, Dave Gagnon and Rev. Don Abbott (the food is blessed) Mike Stuart, Jim Buck, Steve Ananian, Bob Doucette, Paul Seyffert and John Vassallo. The Food is great and the outstanding service is provided by our Rotary team of: Angela Keane, Joyce Brisbois, Elizabeth (new mom) McCarthy, Ruth (new mom) Kennedy.. (sounds like a pattern here) Attorney Suzanne Kenny and Attorney Tracey Spencer Misuraca. Rotary wives Caryn Gillis. Carla Peterson and Kim Peterson (soon to be new mom) are there to ensure that their husbands don't mess things up. Rotary Bocci champ (too bad Lions Club) Jackie Schuh is there to remind the Lions Club that WE (ROTARY) are #1. New Members John Garrett, Peter Morris, Joe Bilicki have threatened to burn the chicken if we don't let them cook this year. So mark your calendars for July and get your tickets early (we sell out every year) don't miss this great family event.

OUR MISSION

Rotary is an organization of business and professional leaders united world wide to provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations and promote international understanding and goodwill. However, and maybe more importantly, the Wilmington Rotary Club is a club devoted to the local community. Together with you, the Wilmington Rotary Club, can have an impact on the future - the future that we will shape for ourselves, our families, our club and our community.

The efforts that we make today will ensure that the legacy we leave to those who follow us will be one of peace, of dignity, and of love. I know that with your participation we can make this a year of outstanding accomplishment.

Of course, should you have any questions and/or comments whatsoever regarding the upcoming Auction or what our Rotary Club is all about, please do not hesitate to contact me at any time at 978-694-6065 or E-Mail jgillis@wilmington.k12.ma.us.

Again, I would like to take a moment to thank you for your support of the Wilmington Rotary Club and its many worthy causes. For those whose support of the Rotary Auction is an ongoing effort, please accept our continued thanks for helping us improve the quality and way of life in Wilmington and beyond.

Very truly yours,

Dear Friends of the Wilmington Rotary Club:

On behalf of the Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust, I would like to thank all of you for your continued support of the Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarships.

Over the past years, your continued support of the Wilmington Rotary Club charities has allowed the Scholarship Fund Trust to distribute over $190,000 in scholarship funds. In 2000, the Scholarship Fund distributed $18,500 in awards. This year's winners were John Gillis, Maura Lynch, Lynn Hurley, Nicole Dell'Anno, Elizabeth Dorrance, Derek Mazza, Blain Smith, James Rourke, Andrew Myers, Julie Johnson, Daniel Keating and Paul DeGennaro.

I would like to take this opportunity to personally thank all of the Trustees for their devotion and commitment to the continued success of the Scholarship Fund Trust. Their dedication and hard work has made a substantial impact on the college plans of many Wilmington residents over the past years.

On behalf of the Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust, I extend my best wishes to all of this year's recipients for continued success as they pursue their college education. Further, I look forward to many more successful years of Rotary Club Scholarships. I would also ask that you continue to support the Wilmington Rotary Club Auction as you have in the past, as a portion of the proceeds of the auction fund our scholarship program, as well as the other community projects which the Wilmington Rotary Club continues to support.

The Rotary Interact Club Of Wilmington
P.O. Box 505
Wilmington, Massachusetts 01887

November 2000

Dear Friends,

As President, I would like to introduce you to one of Wilmington's newest and most exciting organizations, the Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington. The club celebrated its enormously successful inaugural year of service last year. On behalf of the 70 members of Rotary Interact, I would like to thank you for the overwhelming support of this newly formed group. Your support has helped us tremendously and will continue to help us reach our goals.

On the local level, the Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington intends on enriching our community. A few past projects include:

Rotary Park Cleanup- Every fall and spring, the Interact members, along with Rotary members clean and beautify Rotary Park. Recently we have cleared the paths and cleaned the pond area. Rotary Park has become one of Wilmington's finest attractions and is enjoyed by all ages.

Big Steps For Little People- In May, over 40 Interactors took part in Winchester Hospital's Big Steps For Little People Road Race. The event supports the emergency pediatrics department at Winchester Hospital. We were invited to not only participate but also to help organize the event. The Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington raised over $2500, more than any other high school, to help bring the hospital's grand total to over $125,000.

On the international level, the Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington intends on continuing its demonstration of good will by means of a project to promote international understanding. Last years projects included:

Rotary Interact Snowball- Last winter, Rotary Interact held the most successful dance ever at Wilmington High School. The over 500 in attendance helped us raise money to benefit the Venezuelan Relief Fund.

This year we have many new and exciting ideas on how to help our community, not only locally but also globally.

Please show your support of the Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington by tuning into WCTV Channel 9 on Thursday, November 16, and by attending the live auction at the Knights of Columbus on Friday, November 17. Please assist in the growth of such a beneficial and worthwhile organization as the Interact Club. We look forward to being an integral part of the Wilmington community for years to come.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (978) 657-7929. I'd like to thank you for your continued support and hope to see you soon!

Sincerely,

Richard Palizzolo, President
Rotary Interact Club of Wilmington

Good Luck Wilmington Rotary...

From your friends at

Charles River Laboratories, Inc.

251 Ballardvale Street
Wilmington, MA 01887

Even non-Rotarians feel a need to improve the looks of Rotary Park. Ned Whitney (who has a Rotarian father) was willing on a fall afternoon to beautify Rotary Park walking trail. Note the new combined police and fire building being erected in the background.

Retirement: When you have the time, will you have the money?

If you don't have the right answer, maybe it's because no one has asked you the right questions.

When do you plan to retire? How much can you afford to invest right now? What's your biggest concern – safety, return or long-term growth?

If you can answer twelve questions like these, you can begin to map out your financial future, with our personal investment planning service.

Retirement? College for your kids? A second home? No matter where you're headed we can help you get there - even if you don't know a stock from a bond.

Just as the camera came around Herb Peterson, Jack Cushing and Ed Whitney got busy at Rotary Park. The park is enjoyed by walkers every day of the year and used by many youth organizations, softball, baseball, soccer, fishing and some frog catching are usual activities a the park donated to the town by the Rotary Club.

Not to be put off by all the hard work other Rotarians are doing at the clean-up of Rotary Park, Bill Doyle and Bob Peterson do some "Heavy Lookin'-on" (Note Doyle is actually leaning on a rake, while Peterson seems to have discarded that useless agronomic device.)
